Pilots Threaten 24-Hour Strike Throughout World

LONDON (AP) — The International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations threatened Thursday night to ground most of the world's airlines for 24 hours June 19 unless the United Nations takes effective action against aerial hijacking.

The strike threat came a few hours after 10 Czechs hijacked a Czechoslovac airliner to West Germany, killing the pilot in the struggle to take over the plane. A West German prosecutor said he will try to put the Czechs on trial.

The U.S. Air Line Pilots Association has asked all union workers to join it in a boycott of the airlines of all nations that give refuge to skyjackers.

The international federation said it supported proposals to set up a special commission to recommend measures against nations that harbor or fail to prosecute hijackers, and warned: "If the United Nations fail to take effective action, then IFALPA has initiated plans to institute a worldwide stoppage of air services on June 19, 1972."

The statement added that "associations representing over half the pilot members of IFALPA have already agreed to this course of action." The federation includes 64 associations with a total membership of 50,000 pilots.

The group said it was threatening a strike "in view of the failure and ineffectiveness of measures so far taken by the United Nations, the International Civil Aviation Organization, governments and other bodies and of the continued exposure of passengers, crew and aircraft to intolerable hazards." It called on the U.N. Security Council to discuss the situation no later than June 16.

The federation said it also expects the Algerian government to extradite or adequately punish the two Americans who hijacked a Western Airlines jet to Algiers last weekend after the pair extorted $500,000 in ransom for the passengers.

The U.S. State Department said Thursday that the Algiers government had informed U.S. representatives it would return the money, but a State Department spokesman said the Algerians had not decided what to do with the hijackers, who asked for political asylum.

The seven Czech men and three Czech women who hijacked the airliner to West Germany also asked for political asylum. It seemed likely that this would be granted, but the chief prosecutor of Weiden, where they landed just inside the German border, said he would try to have charges placed against them.

The German police gave this account of the hijacking:

The plane was in route from Marienbad to Prague with 14 passengers and three crewmen. Five minutes after takeoff, Lubomar Adamica, a 23- year- old student from Prague, forced his way into the cockpit, put a pistol to the pilot's neck and ordered him to fly to Nuernberg.

A member of the crew struggled with the gunman, other hijackers came to his aid, the crew member was injured, the copilot's nose was broken, and during the fight the gun went off, killing the pilot.

The copilot took the controls and landed the plane 40 miles short of Nuernberg. Adamica and Jeromir Kerbl, 19, fled toward the woods nearby, but the police caught them. Neither was armed, but a pistol was found nearby.

The two injured crew members were treated at a hospital and released. The three passengers not involved in the hijacking and the crew members asked to be returned home.

Bloomfield To Seek Funds

BLOOMFIELD — Mayor J. C. Newcomer reported to the city council Thursday night that the city will apply to the Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Council for a grant to aid in hiring an extra police officer for one year.

The total of the grant will be $2,160 with the city paying $621 and the federal government paying $1,539.

The council voted to authorize Byron Phillips, chief of police, to employ someone to work under his supervision.

Denver McMillan met with the board members concerning property he has purchased on Bloomfield Ave. McMillan, who wants to build a home on the property, said the boundary of the road continues to move onto his property after grading.

Joe Welborn, city attorney, explained to McMillan and the council members that the road has never been dedicated and therefore has no specific boundaries by the city. Mayor Newcomer will meet with McMillan and other property owners in an attempt to solve the problem.

$21.3 Billion Education Bill Goes To President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent a $ 1.3-billion education bill to President Nixon and a message to the courts that it wants a halt in busing for school desegregation.

The big education bill with its antibusing rider was passed by the House Thursday, 218 to 180. It had passed the Senate on a 63-15 vote.

The bill combines funding authorization for a wide variety of educational programs with a provision that would prevent federal court desegregation orders from taking effect for 18 months unless all appeals have been exhausted.

By the end of the 18 months, supporters of the provision hope, the Supreme Court will have fixed limits for busing for the purpose of school desegregation.

The White House has said Nixon is dissatisfied with the busing provision—he is said to want a stronger moratorium.

BLACK-EYED SUSAN

We do not assume there is any valid connection between Susan's dark eye and her disposition. However, a psychologist might make a case. Susan is a fighter. She thrives on competition. Wherever she gets a root down, she calls it home and is willing to compete against other flowers and all grasses. Farmers do not like her because she takes over fields and meadows. She thrives in wet places and dry.

It is interesting that the Black-Eyed Susan took a reverse route to conquer a nation. In the last century much clover seed was shipped from the west and she came along with it. Most of the nation's weeds have gone from east to west. Already Susan is making settlements in European fields.

Many confuse Susan with the Oxeye daisy. The latter has a golden heart and white petals; Susan has a dark chocolate eye and golden petals. Few flowers offer a more generous harvest of pollen and nectar than the dark-hearted flower.

Bees, wasps, butterflies and beetles all gather for the harvest. Fertilization of the flowers is very complete and a farmer who grows his own hay seed inevitably spreads the seeds of Susan when he sows a new field.

1. The man who tries to be the right example to every child rather than talk about it.

2. The man who has a passion to help rather than a passion to be helped.

3. The man who is willing to say, "I was wrong. I'm sorry."

4. The man who will look at temptation squarely and say, "No."

5. The man who puts God's business above any other.

6. The man who throws himself totally into a project, then gives the credit for its success to his helpers.

7. The man who has a ready smile and a pat on the back for others.

8. The man who brings his children to church rather than sending them.

9. The man who can see his own faults before he sees the faults of others.

10. The man who gives his money, time and talent without thought of return.

POWER SHORTAGE CATCHING UP WITH US

Summer is icumen in. And with it, a sound of clicking will again be heard in the land — the clicking of switches for air conditioners and fans, ice crushers and water coolers, swimming pool filters and patio lights. They'll all be turned on with increasing frequency, gobbling up more electricity than ever before.

Now is the time to consider both the coming warm weather and the energy dilemma that, in recent years has come to accompany it.

The problem with energy is that it is very similar to a paycheck — nobody pays much attention to it until it is missing.

In the past decade we have been eating off the energy shelf and not building up a sufficient reserve capacity. This does not necessarily mean that enough resources are not now available, but it does mean that they haven't yet been tapped and added to reserves.

In the last few years we have witnessed the end of one energy era in this nation and the beginning of a new one.

Before this change there was a rapid growth of energy consumption, abundant supplies, low prices and complete disregard for the impact on physical environment.

In today's new era of energy use, we are finding that the barrel, indeed, does have a bottom.

It is naive to endorse a no-growth-in-energy policy, for to survive at our current standard of living we must grow. No parent wants his children or grandchildren to have less of anything than he did. But a clean environment is included in this.

Over the last few years some conservation groups have in effect kept large sources of energy off the market until the technology to "keep it clean" is developed. Most experts agree, however, that it is stretching a point to say that blackouts and brownouts have been caused by these environmentalists.

The simple fact is that there have been too many cases where an electric plant was designed and environmental protection was grafted on later instead of being made an integral part.

Actually, in the past we have been kidding ourselves that we have been getting cheap power when the reason was that we weren't paying the full bill. Liabilities against us have been building up in environmental degradation and natural resource depletion.

Today about 75 per cent of the nation's energy comes from oil and gas, 20 per cent from coal, 4 per cent is hydroelectric and less than 1 per cent is nuclear.

Much of this fuel is turned into electricity. But during the conversion process up to two- thirds of the energy is lost as escaping heat and other waste.

This problem of lost efficiency combines with the fact that in the first three years of operation the average reliability of large electrical generating units has been only 60 per cent. That is, full power output was available just more than half the time.

New methods of producing, storing and transmitting electical energy are being studied. But just when realistic alternatives will be available is not known.

Technology had better hurry, though, because scientists project that in the coming 20 years we Americans will consume more energy than has been consumed in all of the 20th century until now.

THE SUDDEN SOVIET FLIP-FLOP

That, the signs indicate, is the thinking of the present management in the Kremlin. The latest signs include not only the summit visit of President Nixon to Moscow but the announcement that the Soviets are going to run a jumbo 32- page supplement in the July issue of Industrial World magazine, a publication serving industrial management in some 141 countries.

Ordered by "Vneshtorgreklama," Russia's international advertising agency, the special section will include 22 advertisements on products ranging from lasers to vodka. Editorial matter will deal with Soviet technological developments, such as lunar robots and computers. At least five pages will be devoted to products and processes that are available for licensing.

"The publication of this section is one more indication of the U.S.S.R.'s increasing interest in more trade with the West," says Industrial World editor and publisher Stephen W. Kann. "The Soviet Union would like more hard currency and is willing to share technology at appropriate terms. This is one of the subjects to be discussed during President Nixon's visit."

As Winston Churchill said, jaw-jaw is better than war-war. And if the jaw-jaw results in trade-trade, that's better yet.

THE WASTE REPORT IS SPIKED

The employe magazine of one of the nation's railroads has appealed to the company loyalty of workers to help solve the problem of abandoned or lost materials.

"In the course of a normal working day," asks the Rock Island "Rocket," " ... how many times has one noticed a pile of spikes, some rail anchors or the plates rusting away in the weeds? Or empty 55- gallon drums collecting water and debris? Or oxygen or acetylene tanks that haven't been moved in years? Or an air hose that has been dropped and forgotten?"

To make employes more cost conscious, the purchasing department has distributed cards listing some common items and their prices.

A single track spike, for instance, costs only 11 cents. "But if you multiply that 11 cents by several hundred spikes thrown away, lost or just left behind at a job scene, the figure starts to mushroom."

Indubitably. And if this company is typical of others in its business, it's no wonder the nation's rail system is in such straits as it is today.

There is such a thing as inventory control, whereby you keep an account of every item purchased and checked out to employes. Rather than relying on their good nature to round up discarded materials, you simply do not permit them to lose or throw away the materials in the first place.

The military services, perhaps, can get away with the careless waste of equipment. They are spared the burden of prudent management because they can dip freely into the bottomless pocket of the taxpayer.

Not so the railroads. Not yet, anyway.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living:

The look of wondering what to do next on the face of a small child after he takes the first two steps of his life without falling down.

The feeling of bedtime drowsiness after a day filled with outdoor activity.

Having someone to console you in a time of grief, and realizing that this someone makes it worthwhile to stay alive.

Walking at night from a stranded car to get a can of gas—and finding a station still open with its lights blazing just 100 feet over the next hill.

You hate to go to the 25th reunion of your high school class because you're fat, and you feel that when you meet your former sweetheart there you'll look ridiculous. So you diet off 30 pounds and when you finally do meet your old flame you discover she has three chins and outweighs you by 15 pounds.

Running for shelter with a pretty girl just as the raindrops begin to patter on the picnic.

Being told by your friends that you actually look a lot handsomer and younger than the picture the local paper printed of you after your election as neighborhood chairman of a charity drive.

Coming upon a really tasty new soft drink that pleases you after you've been on the wagon for three whole months and see nothing but a palate-palling future ahead.

Deciding that pride alone won't permit you to die now because you haven't achieved enough yet to make a respectable brag on your tombstone.

The surprise and respect in your 16-year-old son's face when you show him that his decrepit old man can still kick a football five yards farther than he can.

Thrilling your wife so much with an unexpected gift that she sobs on your shoulder with happiness.

The relief on opening what you fear is going to be a new can of worms—and finding it empty.

For these and other benefits of breath, dear Lord, our thanks, Amen.

UNWANTED GUESTS

The day when big cities bid for presidential nominating conventions may be fading.

Down in Miami and Miami Beach, where the Democrats meet July 10 and the Republicans Aug. 21, there are indications that more than 100,000 demonstrators will be moving in from other parts of the country. Their advance men already have let it be known that the protesters expect shelter, food and medical facilites, Otherwise, they say, there'll be major confrontations.

There is one already. Officials who suggested using city parks for tent cities to accommodate demonstrators have been met by a fusilade of indignation from local residents. This, they contend, would deprive the poor and the old of their places of recreation. Why not, asked one spokesman, park any hippies and dissdents out on the rich folks' golf courses?

By the end of the summer of '72 Miami Beach may wonder why it ever showed interest in being a convention host. But then, if Florida can survive the spring beach bashes of the college crowd, maybe a convention protest is just routine.

LEARNING HARD WAY

Around the turn of the century the then "big business" learned a lesson the hard way. Some of its members operated on a "public be damned" basis. Trouble followed because the public wouldn't be damned. The result was regulation of industry under the antitrust and antimonopoly laws. Growing labor unions enjoyed exemptions from those laws.

Apparently labor leaders learned nothing from the experience of the early industrial leaders. More and more the public has suffered from strikes against which it could not protect itself. One such strike occurred in New York on the state-owned Long Island Railroad. A shutdown of the nation's busiest commuter line by 1,600 union trainmen, stranded 90,000 round trip commuters to NYC. This tie up and strikes by New York City's school teachers, garbage men, subway workers, hospital personnel and utility employees may finally bring the inevitable public reaction.

The New York City situation is not a prounion or antiunion issue. It simply spotlights a public problem. Gov. Rockefeller has speculated the state legislature might be in a mood to stiffen state antistrike laws. Apparently, the labor monopolies are determined to learn the hard way the same as industrial monopolies did many years ago. The public just won't forever accept callous disregard of its needs and interests.

Man is prone to worry about what tomorrow holds in store for him, and while so doing, remains indifferent to the opportunities of today. Today is quite sufficient for the burdens we must bear. It is ours — to live, to love, and to reach out a helping hand to our brother who is staggering under a heavy load. Yesterday is gone. Its memories are all that we have to remind us of a day that was.

Hence, today is all of time we have to build upon. It is the tomorrow we were worrying about yesterday, while tomorrow is still as far away as it then seemed. The only thing for us to do is put our shoulder to the wheel and bend every effort in an attempt to make today a day of accomplishment. Opportunity is knocking now. Let us be up and doing in order that at the rising of tomorrow's sun, we shall not have to face the responsibility of completing a task left undone today.

OCTOBER'S PARTY

October gave a party. The leaves by hundreds came — the Chestnuts, Oaks, and Maples, and leaves of every name. The sunshine spread a carpet, and everything was grand; Miss Weather led the dancing, Professor Wind the band.

The Chestnuts came in yellow, the Oaks in crimson dress, the lovely Misses Maple in scarlet looked their best. All balanced to their partners, and gaily fluttered by; the sight was like a rainbow, new fallen from the sky.

Then in the rustic hollow at hide- and- seek they played. The party closed at sundown, but everybody stayed. Professor Wind played louder, they flew along the ground, and then the party ended in jolly "hands around." — George Cooper.

"Look here," he demanded, "what do you mean by this? 'Among the most beautiful girls was Henry Lewis Bottomley.' Why, you crazy idiot! Old Bottomley isn't a girl — and besides, he's one of our main stockholders."

"I can't help that," returned the realistic reporter, "that's where he was."

OLD REFRAIN

"I took her to dinner, bought her a swell feed, took her to a show, and a night club," said the Man About Town. "Do you know what she said when I was taking her home?"

"No," said his friend.

"Aha. So you've been out with her too!"

MORE MONEY FOR THE U.N.?

In spite of all the insults which the United Nations has leveled at our country, the U.S. State Department has recommended an increase in U.S. contributions to that organization.

Many sound-thinking Congressmen have said that at the very least the U.S. should reduce its share of U.N. funds. President Nixon himself recommended a cut from 31% to 25%. But the State Department budget submitted to Congress calls for an increase of $22 million.

Fortunately, some members of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee in charge of the State Department budget are unwilling to give more money to the United Nations. Chairman Wayne Hays of Ohio said, when asked if he hoped to cut the budget: "You can say that definitely is my intention. If the committee will support me, this budget will be a lot leaner and more realistic when we get through with it."

Supporters of budget-cutting have assembled telling facts regarding the amount of money our government has poured into the U.N. As reported in Robert Allen's syndicated column, the U.S. has given the organization and its affiliates a total of $4.1 billion, or 40% of all the money contributed to the U.N.

The U.S. also purchased $141 million worth of U.N. bonds, about two-thirds of which bear no interest, while the rest pay only 2 %. Last year our contribution was more than the total paid by 117 member nations. Furthermore, as of last November, 86 U.N. members were in arrears to the tune of $186,867,000. Now is the time for constructive Congressmen to bring an end to this indefensible situation. HLH

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon and Leonid Brezhnev reached a "tacit understanding" during their secret Kremlin conversations that the two superpowers will start to disengage from Vietnam.

The President came home from Moscow convinced that the Russians want to end the Vietnam War but don't want to appear less stalwart in their support of Hanoi than the Chinese.

The war has been a drain on the Russians who have been supplying North Vietnam with expensive military hardware. Out of the Moscow meeting, therefore, may come a reduction in both Soviet and American arms shipments to the rival Vietnams.

Both Nixon and Brezhnev expressed a willingness, if they didn't reach a precise agreement, to phase down military aid to the opposing sides. The subject is so delicate inside the Kremlin, however, that the President carefully refrained from discussing Vietnam in his TV report to the Soviet people.

He brought to Moscow with him background papers, which portray the Kremlin leaders as almost paranoiac about the Chinese. In the early war years, the Soviets would have nothing to do with peace efforts, lest it confirm Chinese charges that they were soft on the war.

The secret papers prepared for Nixon tell how the Soviet government, in May 1965, refused even to deliver a peace message to the North Vietnamese. Lyndon Johnson merely wanted to notify Hanoi that he was ordering a bombing pause.

"I am not a postman," grumped Nikolai Firyubin, the Deputy Foreign Misister, when he was asked to relay the message. He suggested that the Americans find their "own ways of transmitting messages."

American Ambassador Foy Kohler, in a report to the State Department, blamed the j incident upon "Soviet sensitivity" toward the Chinese Communists.

Kosygin's phone tapped

Washington was surprised, therefore, to find Soviet Premier Aleksei Kosygin eager two years later to serve as an intermediary between the United States and North VIetnam. He made the offer in February 1967, during talks with British leaders in London.

His phone calls were intercepted and he was overheard reporting jubilantly to Brezhnev in Moscow: "There's a great possibility of achieving the aim, if the Vietnamese will understand the present situation that we have passed to them. They will have to decide."

The North Vietnamese, however, rejected the overtures. Afterward, Kosygin ruefully told American Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow that the role of the mediator was uncomfortable.

"They either complicated the problem," he said, "or pretended they were doing something when in fact they were not."

Kosygin said his intervention in London had provoked "fury" in Peking but that the Chinese had been the winners in the end when his efforts failed.

Then he asked Thompson suspiciously whether "the Chinese had approached the US (about the) possibility of negotiations on Vietnam." The ambassador conjectured afterward that Kosygin may have thought the Chinese encouraged the United States to start negotiations, knowing they would fail and thus embarrass the Soviet Union.

Kosygin in Hanoi

Yet in a fascinating aside, Kosygin recalled that he personally had been in Hanoi when the United States began bombing North Nietnam.

"Why did not the U. S. turn to him at that time and explain to him its problems?" he asked the American ambassador. Kosygin didn't say, however, what he would have done.

In view of this background, Nixon handled the Chinese angle delicately in his talks with Brezhnev. No transcript was made except for the President's personal notes. However, he told aides afterward that the Vietnam discussions had been "intent" but "productive." Both the United States and Russia, he said, will begin backing away from the war.

The President, incidentally, was wary about his own credibility with Peking. He instructed his subordinates not to say anything to their Soviet counterparts that Chinese premier Chou En-lai couldn't read. In other words, he didn't want U. S. negotiators telling the Soviets one thing and the Chinese another.

Nader's premonition

Only hours before an Air Force precision flyer died in a crash at the Transpo '72 show, consumer advocate Ralph Nader had begged Transportation Secretary John Volpe to call off the midair stunts.

Nader had decided to go directly to Volpe after the death of a 30-year-old duster who collided in an air race and an Australian air acrobat who was thrown from his huge kite.

These and several narrow escapes at the big transportation show had convinced Nader that the air exhibits were telling the public more about the horrors of transportation than its benefits.

Last Saturday, after the crop duster's death, Nader sent a telegram to Volpe urging him to call off the stunts. But, on an impulse, he decided to try to contact Volpe directly with a plea to end Sunday's busy schedule.

At 7 p.m., he reached Volpe's special assistant, Joe Bosco, who was impressed with Nader's urgent tone. Bosco located Volpe and passed on to him the consumer advocate's strange premonition.

Volpe told Bosco to get in touch with Transpo's general director, William Bird, and to advise him to weigh Nader's warning but to make up his own mind. Bird quickly decided the show must go on -- and 21 hours after Nader's warning, the Air Force flyer plunged to his death.

Want Mafia Showdown: Angry Young Congressmen Gang Up On Crime Syndicate To Smach Food Racketeers' Terror

WASHINGTON — Soon a coalition of Federal and regional investigators, determined to wipe out the Mafia's terror tax on chunks of the nation's food sales, will prove that chain stores and supermarkets, as well as jet planes and luxury liners, have been "held" for ransom.

Rarely have so many of the "muscle-hoods" been probed by so many investigative district and Federal attorneys--now surrounding a combination of Mafiosi and union officials who not only have been forcing beef prices up but have been attempting to terrorize big store managers into stocking their shelves with underworld controlled "consumer" brand goods.

There will be outraged outcries from at least one national union--the 500,000-member Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America (AFL-CIO). Some of its regional unions literally are encircled by Justice Dept. strike forces and district attorneys in the East. It might lighten this grim tale a bit to report that while two big Amalgamated locals -- 464 (13,000 members) and 174 (25,000 members)-- are under surveillance by the New Jersey, Brooklyn and New York Southern District (joint) Justice Dept. strike forces, one sister local, 342, is scheduling a series of consumer education seminars.

It will be fascinating to learn whether the New York Local 342 will analyze the mulcting of the public--especially the ghetto poor--by some leaders of locals 464 (East Orange, J. J.) and 174 of New York City, the largest meat cutters local in the country. Both these latter unions work together.

Leaders of the powerful Jersey local 464 have been indicted on charges of embezzling some $51,000. And these men must have some swat. They've controlled that local since February 1947.

As for local 174, it is now being probed by the Manhattan District Attorney, by the Southern District which, under Whitney North Seymour, Jr., hopes to convene and conclude a grand jury by the fall, by the unique joint Federal-regional strike force created by President Nixon two years ago, and by an angered band of agricultural area Congressmen.

Led by Montana's freshman Congressman, John Melcher, these Representatives have constituted themselves "The Food and Agricultural Task Force." Never did I think I'd write of any Congressman as a Lochinvar. But John Melcher has come out of the West to this capital to show it what fresh and refreshing indignation can do.

It was during routine sessions of the House Agricultural subcommittee on Livestock and Grain that he ran across the rackets, made some, at first naive, inquiries and discovered that the combination fronts for organized crime and shady local union chiefs were taking a terror toll of hundreds of millions of dollars from Northeastern household tables.

"Our function," said Melcher of his task force the other day, "is to continue to focus the attention of a large part of the Congress on this cancerous, continuous drainage of peoples' money by the racketeers in and out of those union locals and their allies in organized crime.

"When you take the food dollars from the impoverished people in areas from Baltimore to Boston and see it contributed to racketeers, it is a sad commentary on law and justice in this country."

Second in command of the task force is 43-year-old freshman congressman Bob Bergland of Minnesota. Not many of us have covered these newcomers. But they seem to be a new breed who won't fake any gaff from latter-day rustlers who come between the grain and meat growers and the big city customers.

Speaking in the task force's name, Melcher and Bergland have officially asked Federal agencies for help.

They turned not only to the Justice Dept. seeking FBI aid, but to the National Labor Relations Board, the Internal Revenue Service, the Agriculture Dept. and the General Accounting Office (GAO). This latter unit of unimpeachable pencil-wielding auditor-hawks replied it did not have jurisdiction over criminal activities--but it was willing and eager to help cooperate in determining how prices are set in these markets which extend westward into Pennsylvania and Ohio.

What has angered the young Congressional task force is the failure of national union officials to act or respond or to make contact. Word of the investigations has seeped all through the big Meat Cutters Union. It is the talk of the wholesale meat industry.

Estimates put the increased prices forced by threats to wholesalers and retailers at well over $100 million a year in the Northeast alone. This will be compounded by results of a Senate probe into pressure on supermarkets.

Yet no one from the inner circle cries out nor moves against the so-called regional labor leaders who treat their proletarian followers as just so many hunks of meat.

Kleindienst Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "humbled and flattered" Richard G. Kleindienst has become the nation's top law-enforcement officer after a four-month controversy which could set the tone for the upcoming presidential campaign.

The 64-19 Senate vote Thursday approving Kleindienst, a 48-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., lawyer, as attorney general ended the longest confirmation fight for a presidential nominee in memory.

Throughout the 24 days of hearings on the nomination of Kleindienst to succeed John N. Mitchell, liberal Democrats centered their attack on the administration's ties with big business, a theme they are likely to repeat during the fall's presidential campaign.

Specifically, they attempted to discredit Kleindienst's denial that he played a role in settlement of three antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., the nation's ninth-largest business.

Settlement of the antitrust suits was linked by columnist Jack Anderson with ITT's commitment of up to $400,000 to San Diego to help the city obtain this summer's Republican National Convention, later moved to Miami Beach.

Despite grumblings that he was too conservative and had helped formulate hard-nosed Justice Department policies for dealing with demonstrators and dissenters, Kleindienst won the Senate Judiciary Committee's unanimous approval the first time around.

East Prairie Okays Paving Of Alley

EAST PRAIRIE — In a brief session last night the city council heard reports from the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation center, approved a request for paving an alley and adopted a resolution entering the city into contract with Ed Duty.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brown and Mrs. Alene Ivie of the DAEOC center briefly outlined new services offered by the center and expressed their appreciation for the city's cooperation in employing workers through the center.

City Manager Gene Cullen informed the council of a request from William Pope for the paving of the alley which runs between his automobile agency and a city-owned building. The council approved his request and instructed Cullen to contact Eules Presson who owns adjoing property at the other end of the alley which connects Washington and Lincoln Avenue.

A resolution entering the city into contract with Ed Duty for $850 for digging of a ditch and installation of drainage tile from South Martin to the city limits was adopted.

In routine business the council approved the collector's report showing a total of $8,480.80 collected during the month of May.

Accounts payable in the amount of $2,968.98 were approved and Police Judge J. Marvin Bryan's report showing $610 fines during May was accepted.

The council discussed the need for a new street sweeper and Manager Cullen was instructed to inquire about the cost of a machine.

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Battling Boozers

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Timmy hoisted a few at the Four-Leaf Clover and then got into an argument with Kelly and Hennessy. It wasn't until he started to use strong words, however, in the tavernacular of the bar, that the dispute got out of hand.

A fight ensued and Kelly and Hennessay battered Timmy to the floor. To Timmy's great relief, a bouncer quickly appeared and pulled Kelly and Hennessy off his back and tossed them out into the street.

His great relief, however, was short lived. When the bouncer returned, he procedded to toss poor old Timmy out into the street also and landed right between Kelly and Hennessy. And once again the melee was on. When it was over, Timmy was the recipient of one heck of a beating.

"As a patron in his bar," Timmy complained in court, "the owner had a duty to protect me. And he didn't do it. Throwing me out into the street where Kelly and Hennessy were waiting for me was like throwing me under the wheels of a speeding train."

"My only obligation," retorted the owner, "was to maintain peace and order in my bar for the protection of my customers. And by heaving Kelly, Hennessy and Timmy into the street, that's just what I was doing, protecting my customers. What went on in the street was none of my business.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the bar owner responible for Timmy's street-incurred injuries?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a tavern owner has a duty to exercise care to protect his patrons. That by tossing Timmy into danger, he failed in his duty to protect him. (Based upon a 1957 Kansas City Court of Appeals Decision)

$180 To Nursing Home Group

BENTON — Three representatives of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 1 donated $180 to the Committee for the Scott County Nursing Home Thursday morning at Benton.

The money was contributed by members of I.B.E.W. Local 1 and will be used to advertise a public hearing June 19 before the county court. Representing the union were Richard R. Flotron, business representative, Flotron's secretary, Barbara Sample, and John Brannick, member of Local 1.

Attorney Jim Greene, representative for the nursing home committee said, "The donation is merely a guarantee that the county will not be responsible for advertising costs due to an unfavorable outcome in a possible preference election in the August 8 primary."

The June 19 hearing will determine if petitioning procedures for the election are in order.

McNeely-Midget

RISCO — Lighted white tapers in arched candelabra accented by a large blue satin bow and entwined greenery formed the background for the wedding of Miss Sandra Faye McNeely to Jimmie Charles Midgett of 8:00 o'clock Saturday evening, at First Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Delmar Lee McNeely and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aubrey Midgett, all of Risco.

Butane candles were placed on the organ and piano, and blue satin bows formed pew-markers. A three-candle candelabra held tapers for the unity candle ceremony, symbolizing the joining together of man and wife.

Miss Phyllis Hon, organist played the wedding march, and Miss Marie Fortner, pianist, accompanied soloist E.D. Doss, minister of music at First Baptist Church, Parma, as he sang "More" and "Wedding Prayer."

A large, beaded, shirred-satin bow formed her headdress and held secure a three- tiered fingertip veil of tulle which extended into a single layered chapel train. She carried a bouquet of daisies with white satin streamers and wore white patina shoes to complete her attire.

Mrs. Duane Stelter of Beloit, Wis., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a blue dotted swiss dress with princess lines accented by white daisy trim repeated on sleeves and neckline. A stand-up collar and short puffed sleeves were also featured.

Bridesmaids were Miss Darlene Midgett, sister of the groom, and Miss Barbara McNeely, sister of the bride. Miss Judy McNeely, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Miss Sheila Midgett, flower girl, wore a blue dotted swiss dress of styling similar to the other attendants, who wore yellow, green and pink dotted swiss with bow accents in back.

Candle lighters and ushers were Ronnie Albritton and Dennis Kellick, cousin of the groom.

Duane Stelter of Beloit Wis. was best man, Groomsmen were Steve Self and Larry Hill and junior groomsman was Randy Stafford of Dexter.

Mrs. Midgett chose a dress of blue and lavender floral design with white accessories and a white carnation corsage with blue streamers.

Mrs. R.T. McGee, Miss Teresa McGee and Mrs. Ernest Phelan, aunt of the bride, served at the reception. The wedding cake was three-tiered with white frosting accented by rainbow colored flowers. It was topped by miniature bride and groom and a pair of white doves, each carrying a wedding ring.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Phelan, Christina King, Rhonda Kay Phelan, Mrs. Janie Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McNeely, Mrs . Fannie Pipkin, Pamela Pipkin and Mrs. Lillian Bradham, all of Poplar Bluff; Mr. and Mrs. Cash Metcalf of Qulin; Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Fortner, Marie and Martha Fortner of Malden; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Province, Bobby and Province of Benton, Ill.; Mrs. Becky Norris of Malden; Mr. and Mrs. E.D. Doss of Parma; Mrs. Lyndell Stevens of Malden; and Zerlene Stafford and Randy Stafford of Dexter.

The bride attended schools in Poplar Bluff, South Beloit, Ill., and is a 1972 graduate of Risco High School.

Mrs. Kit Bond A Guest In Area Towns Yesterday

NEW MADRID — "The best thing that can happen to benefit all the people is the election of Kit Bond as governor," Mrs. Carolyn Bond, wife of the state auditor and republican candidate for nomination as governor, told a group attending a reception Thursday given for her by the New Madrid County Republican Club.

Speaking briefly during her one-hour stop at New Madrid on a campaign tour through the Bootheel, Mrs. Bond said:

"A lot of Democrats in the state of Missouri are going to vote for Kit Bond. Many Democrats have told us they are ready for a change."

After their "Bond wagon" campaign through the state, Mrs. Bond said, "We have found the people in the state set Kit Bond and Jack Danforth apart from the rest of state government. The people like the way they are conducting their offices -- not as patronage offices but on basis of merit."

She urged Republicans to show support of their candidate in the August primary as well as in November. In expressing optimism for a Republican governor for the first time in 32 years, Mrs. Bond said the Democrats nominee will have many fences to mend between August and November.

Mrs. Bond visited Charleston for a 10 a.m. coffee held at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Webb, 204 Court Street. At 1:30 p.m. she was guest for a coffee in Caruthersville, where Mrs. Mary Jane Crysler and Mrs. T.A. Haggard were hostesses.

Her final stop before returning to Jefferson City was in Kennett for a 3 p.m. coffee.

Ann Landers

Widowed Woman Knows How To Get And Keep A Man

Dear Ann Landers: When I read the poem from the wife to "The Other Woman" I began to think about the married couples who live in this neighborhood. Here are a few thumbnail sketches of the wives:

Bernice: Wears curlers 24 hours a day. Is a chronic complainer and gets stoned every afternoon on beer. By the time her husband comes home for dinner she is staggering around the kitchen, blind.

Marge: Visits neighbors all day and says she can't do housework except on impulse. These impulses always come at night -- when her husband says he is getting ready for bed.

Emily: Weighs 280 pounds. When she eats (which is all the time), she drops food on her chin and clothing. Her bosom looks like a snack tray.

Lenore: Has told all the neighbors ladies they are fools to let their husbands "use" them as substitute call girls. She says SEX is DEGRADING unless a woman is in the mood. Her "moods" come twice a year.

I am a widow (under 40) and have been propositioned by every one of their husbands. One soft smile, one wide-eyed, listening look and I could be the Other Woman. It shouldn't be that way. Tell 'em, will you? --Huntington Station Dear Hunt: Tell 'em what? There's nothing left to say!

Dear Ann Landers: I am divorced and my husband has remarried. I gave him custody of our 13-year -old son because I felt it would be better for an adolescent male to be with his father. I have custody of our 16-year old daughter. She is a handful but we get along reasonably well.

Last night I came home from my night-school class early. The teacher became ill and the class was cancelled. I caught my daughter and her boyfriend in a most embarrassing situation. There is no question about what they were doing.

The boy is 17 --- her steady - a nice kid, good student, no bum. He left without saying anything. My daughter was so humiliated she couldn't face me. It's just as well. I was completely unstrung and wouldn't have known how to respond. Please tell me how to deal with this situation. I am -- In Pieces

Dear I.P.: You sound like an intelligent woman so I needn't tell you there should be no yelling, berating or punishing. Once a girl has crossed that line the chances for total abstinence are slim.

Discuss with her the seriousness of a physical relationship -- the risks, the commitment, the emotional investment. Make certain she has plenty of information. A mother who does this is not condoning pre-marital sex, she is being sensible and realistic.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm heartsick over this and don't know what to do. Last week I was watching my favorite soap opera on TV and my dear friend and next door neighbor telephoned. I said, "I'm washing my hair, I'll call you back." Five minutes later she knocked on the door. She had brought me a freshly baked cake. She could see I was not washing my hair and was very hurt. I apologized but she would not accept my apologies. I've called her three times since but each time she says, "I'm washing my hair," and hangs up.

Please tell me what to do now. ---Sorry In Sacramento

Dear Sorry: Forget it. You've let her know you're sorry and there's nothing more to say or do.

If the friendship ends because of this, it wasn't worth much.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage ---What To Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long stamped, self-addressed envelope.

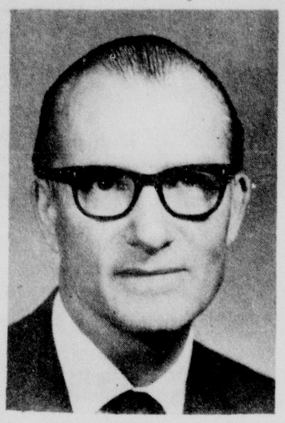
New Pastor To Be In Pulpit Sunday



Rev. Otto Dvorak

The Rev. Otto L. Dvorak, newly appointed pastor of First United Methodist Church, will be in the pulpit for the first time Sunday for the 10:45 a.m. worship service.

The Rev. Mr. Dvorak comes to Sikeston from Jefferson City where he has served as superintendent of the Jefferson City- Rolla District for three years. Announcement of the Rev. Mr. Dvorak's appointment as pastor was made May 11 by Bishop Eugene Frank of St. Louis.

The pastorate was vacated by the death March 6 of the Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, who had served the congregation since 1964. In the meantime, the Rev. Ralph Dodson of Dexter, an instructor at Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau, has served as interim pastor for two months.

Prior to assuming the Jefferson City- Rolla District Superintendent's position, the Rev. Mr. Dvorak pastored congregations in Doniphan, Dexter, Senath, Malden, Moberly and First United Methodist of St. Charles.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ludvik Dvorak of Dudley, the future minister graduated from Gideon High School, earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from Central Methodist College in Fayette and a Master of Theology degree from Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex.

The Rev. Mr. Dvorak is married and he and his wife Claudia are parents of one son, Air Force Tech. Sgt. Robert Dvorak who is stationed in Honolulu, Hawaii; and two daughters, Mrs. Tom Kennedy of St. Ann and Ruth Ellen of Jefferson City. They also have four grandchildren.

MEETING GOD THROUGH SCRIPTURES

There are many sources that one can turn to in search of inspiration and authority.

Unfortunately too many fail to realize the influence of our Scriptures. The Bible has been described as the most widely sold book in the world. Yet at the same time it has been termed the least widely read.

Certainly there are other sources of inspiration, such as biographies of such men as Augustine, Luther, the Wesleys, and others who overcame obstacles to achieve greatness.

Too many claim the Bible fails "to turn them on" so they avoid reading it. Too many feel it is an ancient volume that is not appropriate in this age marked by unusual freedoms seldom experienced in previous ages.

Some problems need to be answered.

Have we lost the know-how to read it?

Do we know what to look for when we read it?

One could, of course, utilize the various translations, the commentaries, and the Bible dictionaries. Probably best of all, one could simply go to a Bible and study the examples of men mentioned in the various accounts.

In Timothy we learn that "all scripture is inspired by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work."

One of the best ways to learn the scriptures is to start early in one's life. Fortunate is the person who is grounded in God's teachings by his parents and is provided with excellent examples of Christian living.

The Bible remains the central focal point for our devotional life. To receive the ultimate benefit we must learn to "listen" to God through the Scripture.

How do we know the Bible is inspired? Primarily because it inspires those who read it. In many ways we judge the effectiveness of an idea or a product by the ways it affects individuals. Such examples are plentiful in the Bible.

Our young persons are approaching the Bible with many questions, much as older persons have done through the ages. Today we have more knowledge available than ever before.

This increases some of our difficulty in understanding the Bible. With more scientific knowledge available we want to "prove" stories from the Bible.

What do we mean by "prove" here? Is it an excuse to cover our doubts, our questions, or our unwillingness to accept the Bible?

Psalms advise the young man just starting out in life to keep his life clean. He is advised to beware of a million voices he will hear. Such teachings are all about us today.

Unfortunately too many persons turn to other sources for advice. It seems to be easier to consult the astrology columns or the advice articles. Or even to listen to the gossip next door.

The Bible is not a textbook, not even a book. Rather it is a collection of pamphlets written over a period of some twelve hundred years in many languages.

Leslie D. Weatherhead says the Bible reveals a God who cares, reveals the purposefulness of God, reveals a God who cannot be defeated, and reveals a God who endlessly seeks to be the friend and guide and savior of men.

One doesn't become a Christian merely by joining a church, attending the services, or by reading the Bible. He must do more. He must let the messages from the Bible penetrate his heart and inspire him to believe in God.

Four-Church Bible School Enrolls 288

An ecumenical Vacation Bible School was held this week at First United Methodist Church. Churches participating were First United Methodist Church, St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church and First Christian Church.

The idea for combining Vacation Bible Schools was that of the late Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, pastor of First United Methodist Church at the time of his death early this year. Ministers of the four churches decided to go ahead with the idea this summer in his honor.

Although this is the first year the churches in Sikeston have combined, the idea is not a new one. Records show that years ago when churches were smaller they combined every summer for a Bible school session. Rev. Wagner wanted to see the same thing done in Sikeston.

The ministers are the Rev. Durward Penry, pastor of First Christian; the Rev. Tom Bass, pastor of Hunter Memorial; Father Robert Schumacher, pastor of St. Francis Xavier; and the Rev. Otto Dvorak, pastor of First Methodist.

There were 288 children enrolled in the Vacation Bible School with Mrs. Allen Harris, Jr., of First Methodist as director. The school started Monday and ended today.

The teachers and staff of 50 were completely ecumenical.

Department heads included Mrs. David Bailey, First Christian, young children's department; Sister Elaine Georger, St. Francis Xavier, elementary department; and Mrs. Glenn Barks, First Presbyterian, young people's department.

Mrs. Peter MacLaughlin, First Presbyterian, was secretary and Mrs. Joe McCord, First Christian, was in charge of the kitchen.

The children sent up 300 helium- filled balloons today with a message about their Bible school. They hope to get a response from someone in another town or state.

Corner On Qestions

By Pastor Don Wilson

QUESTION: WHY SHOULD REPENTANCE OF SIN BE RE-EMPHASIZED?

ANSWER: Advertising is powerful! Desire is created for "things" about which man knows little and needs less. Pride is the appeal and fashion is its gimmick. Superficial image builders spot the trappings of the good life, while they are themselves bereft of the ingredients that make life good. Preaching today is so infected by shallowness. In an era of sophisticated communication, the "whole" Gospel of God is UNcommunicated; therefore, mere PROFESSING Christians shall discover that, "There is a way which SEEMETH right unto a man, but the end there of are the ways of death."

Preachers formulate a gospel which often disguises or drops doctrine. To ascertain quanitity, many evangelicals preach merely a gospel - shell ... correct but too limited to effect spiritual birth. While either eliminating or substituting the doctrine of HELL, the watered-down gospel resolves its deletion of REPENTANCE by affirmation of the truth, "BELIEVE on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." Of course the unbeliever remains unconverted; nevertheless, effectual believing is impossible without genuine repentance of sin.

To merely excite the EMOTIONS is equally erroneous with appeal solely to the INTELLECT.

Appointments in the Cape Girardeau - Farmington District included the Rev. Coy Statler as pastor at Advance and the Rev. Richard L. Combs at Chaffee.

THE BIBLE 34. Joseph's Brothers Came to Buy Corn

The famine was throughout all lands and in Canaan Jacob and his sons were suffering from it. Jacob called his sons to him and told them he had heard there was plenty of grain in Egypt and that they should go and buy corn there. He sent them all but Benjamin, who was the youngest and was Joseph's blood brother.

"And Joseph was the Governor over the land, and he it was that sold to all the people of the land: and Joseph's brethren came, and bowed down themselves before him with their faces to the earth."

Genesis 42:6.

They did not recognize Joseph as their brother but he recognized them and remembered his dreams concerning them. Joseph was rough with them and accused them of being spies. But they protested that they came from Canaan only to buy corn. They told Joseph of their youngest brother at home with their father. Joseph wanted to see Benjamin so he told them that he would hold one of them as prisoner and they could take corn back to ther father in Canaan, but they would have to bring Benjamin to him to verify their story as well as save the brother who was a prisoner. Reuben, one of the brothers, remembered what they had done to Joseph and told his brothers that they were paying for their guilt.

They were given corn and returned to their father and told him all that had happened. When they opened the sacks of corn the money for it was still in the sacks and they were bewildered and afraid.

Card Surge Drops Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Veteran right-hander Diego Segui, who needed two months for his first American League victory, required less than one day for his initial National League triumph against the reeling San Francisco Giants.

Segui, who was acquired by the St. Louis Carinals from the Oakland A's Wednesday afternoon, hurled three innings of one-hit baseball to receive credit for St. Louis' 6-4 victory over the Giants Thursday night.

"I had to depend on Cards catcher Ted Simmons because nobody had told me about the Giants' batters," said Segui. "I just went out and tried to throw strikes and was fortunate that I could put the ball where I wanted."

"I was surprised I would win so soon," he said. "But I was ready to pitch because I hadn't thrown since facing Baltimore last Friday."

Segui, who was 0-1 with the A's in six appearances, has mixed emotions about leaving first-place Oakland for St. Louis. "I will really miss Campy (Bert Campaneris) because he was like a brother to me after all these years."

Segui added, "But I'm happy because my home is in Kansas City, and that's close to St. Louis.

"When I joined the A's in 1962, I pitched on opening day, but I didn't get my first American League win until June. I just hope I can keep helping the Cardinals."

Segui was the beneficiary of a five-run, eighth-inning Cardinals' rally that chased loser Sam McDowell, 6-4, and handed the Giants their sixth straight setback.

McDowell, who has not won since May 22, entered the eighth with a 4-1 lead and nine strikeouts to his credit. McDowell helped forge that advantage with a two-run triple in the sixth.

But Ted Sizemore opened the eighth with a walk, and Matty Alou and Joe Torre walked, loading the bases. Simmons followed with a three-run triple, chasing McDowell, and Donn Clendenon greeted reliever Don McMahon with a game-winning two-run homer.

ABA May Cut Back Teams

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association begins a two-day meeting next Monday, and among the items to be considered are the reductions of teams and even the possible dissolution of the league.

Sources within the league told The Associated Press on Thursday that Memphis, Pittsburgh and Florida are clubs that may be cut from the 11-team league in order to bolster the financial stability of the organization.

Florida and Pittsburgh appear the prime choices to be cut since the Floridians attracted only 87,000 home fans last year and the Condors drew only 89,000.

Memphis, which had an attendance of 130,000, has a good sports building, and despite its drawing difficulty, the sources said some powers in the league would like to save the franchise in that city.

Dissolving the league would make it possible for the National Basketball Association to pick up the strongest teams from the ABA. It would also allow the leagues to circumvent the restraining order barring a merger of the ABA and NBA. Hearings before a congressional committee on the merger have been chaired by Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C. who is against the merger.

An ABA source said the dissolving of the league might be tried but it was not likely because of the number of lawsuits it would bring from the players and their organizations, which originally obtained the federal injunctions barring the merger.

Two Homers Hightlight L.L. Play

Little League action was at tis best Thursday night at Puckett, Farris and the Senior High fields. In the National League, Pizza Inn walked over Lewis Furniture 18-7. It was Kiwanis 9, A & B 2 in the second game.

Jenkins slipped past Bridger, 14-13, to lead off the night in American League play, and Police downed First National, 16-11. Bank of Sikeston lost to Kingsway Plaza by a 9-5 margin and the Brothers Club squad became easy prey for Hart's Bread in a 13-5 defeat in the Musial League.

Hal Butler homered to lead the Kiwanis squad to victory with his fifth- inning connection. Butler was also the winning pitcher, handing the loss to Watson of A & B.

Pizza Inn's relentless attack subdued Lewis Furniture. Marks led the siege as the winning pitcher. McGee took the defeat.

It was a fierce battle from the plate in the First National victory over Police with both teams having over twenty hits.

Jenkins pounded ten more hits than Bridger but only won by a one- run margin. Right- fielder Sanders led with five hits.

Marty Williams was the winning moundsman for Kingsway and Andy Rodgers was handed the loss for Bank of Sikeston. The Bankers led in number of hits but took the loss anyway.

Second baseman Sutton homered and shortstop Smith slammed a triple which, along with 10 walks, paved the way to Harts Bread's win over Brothers Club.

Hart's Standard jumped to an early 6-1 lead over the Elks in the first inning of Thursday night's first game in the Senior Babe Ruth League. Hart's went on to beat the Elks' squad 13-7. In the following contest, optimist clobbered Leible Implement with second and fourth inning rallies paving the way to a soaring 10-0 victory.

Hewitt and Blankenship shared mound duties, with Hewitt collecting the win for Hart's Standard. First baseman Saulters slugged a second-inning triple and Blankenship had a double. First baseman Evans connected for two triples to lead the Elks' squad. Couch had a triple and double and Colwick and Master had doubles. Keller was the losing pitcher.

Laplant took winning pitcher honors for Optimist, handing Colwick the loss. Right-fielder Lewis paced Optimist at the plate, his performance including a second - inning triple. Second baseman Rogers' double was the only extra-base hit of the night.

Yastrzemski Back

Yastrzemski who had been sidelined with a torn knee ligament since May 9, was given the medical O.K. Thursday by team physician Tom Tierney.

"The knee is fine," Tierney said, although he added that Yastrzemski would wear a knee brace "for a while." He added no surgery would be required.

Yastrzemski said he still had a few problems with the knee, but not enough to make him sit out any longer.

"I can't cut, nor can I run laterally, but I can run straight ahead, I can run the bases, I can slide and I can hit and I can field," Yastrzemski said.

PADRES ARE COUSINS

SAN DIEGO (AP) — When New York Met pitcher Tom Seaver faces the San Diego Padres just mark up another win. When he beat them 5-1 here in April it marked his tenth victory without a defeat against them.

However, when the Padres scored their run it snapped Seaver's 1972 scoreless inning string which had reached 21 innings.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right – 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" – no starvation – because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service)-Cash is O.K.–to: Ski Team Diet, P.O. Box 15493 San Diego, California 92115. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!

CITY OF SIKESTON, MO.
Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of 1 1/2" hotmix asphaltic pavement on 6" soil cement base with concrete curb and gutters on William Street from Carroll Street west to join William Street in Cole's Subdivision in accordance with plans and specifications;

in the city of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the council of the city of Sikeston, state of Missouri, as follows: section 1: that the council of the city of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the city of Sikeston. section 2: that the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. section 3: that the estimated cost of the improvement is $5.30 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. section 4: that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the state of Missouri and the ordinances of the city of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the city council the general revenue fund of the city of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. section 5: that any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the state of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the industrial commission of Missouri. section 6: that the city clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the city of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 5th day of June, 1972. Approved: Frank Ferrell, Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

Committee Tightens Welfare Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has voted to reinstate the "man in the house" rule allowing states to refuse welfare benefits to a mother and children living with a man not legally related to them.

The provision would upset a 1968 Supreme Court ruling which stated that welfare benefits could not be denied a mother and children in such cases.

The committee also decided Thursday to provide, under its new Workfare program, that children of welfare parents who refuse to take a job could be referred to local child welfare agencies, which would be directed to make some provision for them.

It had indicated earlier that, if welfare parents declined to work, their children would get no assistance either.

The committee also agreed Thursday that a parent refusing to work would get one month's wages while officials tried to persuade him to take a job.

County Shares Estimated Los Of $2.5 Million

KIRKSVILLE -- Scott County shared in a two and one- half million dollar interest loss on intangible taxes from 1964-1969, according to figures released by State Rep. George W. Parker.

Parker, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, said Scott County's interest losses in only 1968 and 1969, amounted to $5,264. "This does not include the years 1964-67, and is based on what was eventually earned in 1970 and '71 when scandals brought public attention to the favoritism and mismanagement of state funds."

Parker called the interest losses to the public a major issue in the treasurer's race this year.

"Intangible taxes are only one of several state funds which have been used to earn interest for political cronies instead of the taxpaying public," he added. "However, we have seen that by failing to collect interest on the state's intangible taxes, the taxpayers lost at the very least $2,483,296.11 form 1964-1969.

"Prior to 1970, there was no interest paid on the millions of dollars in this fund. The practice of using favored banks still continues unchecked."

NDC Leaders Endorse End To Secrecy

COLUMBIA — Rory Ellinger, state chairman of the New Democratic Coalition, today announced his endorsement of the Citizen's Lobby initiative petition drive that would, if ratified by the voters in November, virtually eliminate secrecy in government at the state, county and local levels.

Ellinger's endorsement was accompanied by Bruce T. Sommer, St. Louis NDC Chairman. In a joint statement, they urged all Missourians to support the petition drive launched by the Citizen's Lobby, which is headed by Carl M. Wilson of Kansas City and Raymond A. Appleton of Columbia.

Ellinger said, "We are appalled at the recent refusal of members of the State Legislature during the last session to take positive action on a bill which would have provided for open government.

"Secrecy has no place in government, and I am extermely pleased that the Citizen's Lobby has taken upon itself the tremendous task of securing the needed 92,000 signatures to place the constitutional amendment on the ballot this coming November," Ellinger stated.

"Whether one is a Republican, a Democrat, an independent, a liberal or a conservative, the issue remains the same, and that is that secrecy in meetings at which public business is conducted is deplorable and should not be tolerated. It is not only detrimental to good and efficient government," Ellinger continued, "it could be, and has proven to be, extremely dangerous.

"It is a sad situation when legislators fail in their duties and responsibilities to the very people they were elected to represent, and I am sure the voters will welcome a chance to vote on a constitutional amendment that will allow them to decide whether or not they want decisions made behind closed doors which affect them and their families. This unhealthy situation exists today at all levels of government in Missouri," Bruce Sommer added.

Ellinger urged "all interested individuals and groups who wish to support the drive to contact the Citizen's Lobby by writing to Box 833, Jefferson City, Missouri, 65101, or by phone at 314 635-0121."

Bounty of Good Cooks

ED. NOTE:

If glorious fruit and vegetables harvests are native to the Bootheel, then an abundance of good cooks in the area is only fitting and proper! It would seem that the password to any female gathering -- large or small, for bridge or brunch -- is a tried and true recipe. And the sincerest form of flattery is in a guest's second helping of the hostess' carefully assembled torte or heartier main dish. Sooner or later talk turns to an old or new recipe idea.

Most rules included in this supplement are from the "favorite" files of just a few of SEMO's a exemplary good cooks .... and the reader will find the field not limited to women! Credits follow each recipe. Others are from my own files, having passed the personal taste test.

Special thanks go to those contributing with emphasis on their efforts toward preserving that bit of "mystery" that goes into Southern cuisine.

Jeff Davis Pie

The Jefferson Davis pie, named in honor of the president of the Confederacy from 1861 to 1865, was one of the regionally -famous Southern cream pies. Like this elite pie family, the Jeff Davis seems to have been born kin to the chess pie clan. That is, the rich branch that calls for dairy cream and begins by creaming sugar into butter. That's how air gets into the act, significantly. Unlike shortened cakes where sugar-creaming incorporates air to increase volume, there is purposely little flour to hold it in the creamed pie. The air bubbles out during baking which lets the Jeff Davis pie collapse, as it should, when doen. In the process the sugar caramelizes and coats the cream as it cools.

The origin of Jeff Davis pie has been attributed to a Missouri slavecook. She also named it, the story goes, not for the June 3 Davis birthday but to please her master, an ardent supporter of thySouthern cause. The word-of-mouth recipe indicated certain ingredients, but did not tell which sugar or cream, or how they were mixed with the butter and eggs. Another source stressed nutmet flavoring. Subsequent recipes (precious few are in print) naturally varied. A credible composite and undeniably divine version is made by creaming 1 1/2 cups firmly packed light brown sugar into 1/2 cup butter to introduce air. When cream is fluffy, beat in 4 egg yolks. Add 2 tablespoons sifted flour with 2 teaspoons freshly grated nutmeg; stir in with 1 cup light cream until smooth. Turn into baked 9-inch pastry shell. Bake in 300 degree oven about 1¼ hours or until filling has bubbled well, sets, and top is wrinkled and caramel brown.

Jeff Davis pie may be swirled with a soft meringue: made with the remaining egg whites whipped until frothy and stabilized with 2 tablespoons superfine sugar for each egg white. Beating until sugar is thoroughly dissolved prevents beading. Flavor with ½ teaspoon vanilla extract. Spread on pie and bake, in this case, in 300 degree oven 15 to 20 minutes or until delicately browned.

SMOTHERED DOVES IN BROWN GRAVY

Salt doves and lay in roasting pan. Sprinkle with pepper. Cover with large onion cut up.

Make a brown gravy by melting abut ½ to 2/3 cup of bacon drippings in deep skillet. Add 1 to 2 cups of flour depending on how many doves you have (!) while stirring constantly, until it almost begins to look dull and dry instead of shiny. Stir constantly to keep flour from burning, but let it get a milk-chocolate brown. Add water and stir until thick-gravy consistency.

Pour gravy over birds and cover and bake at 450 degrees for 2 or 3 hours, reducing heat now and then. About 1½ hours before done, place carrots and potatoes in pan and baste with gravy, and keep basting birds and vegetables so they won't get too dry. Add water if cooking down too much, depending on whether you like gravy thick or thin.

SCALLOPED OYSTERS

2 cups crushed crackers
½ tsp. salt
black pepper
½ cup melted butter (not oleo)
¼ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1¾ milk scalded (whole milk)

Add Worcestershire sauce to milk and pour over this, then put remaining cracker mixture on top. Bake in 400 degree oven 35 minutes until browned. Makes four servings. If you want to increase the amount, be sure just to double the ingredients and use a larger shallow baking dish. I more moist scallop is desired add half cup of the liquer from the oysters.

DOVE CASSEROLE

Either fry doves first and cook 1 hour or put doves in casserole and bake a good 1½ hours until doves are tender (Take one out and test.) Use about 30 dove breasts. Salt and pepper each one and place in large pyrex dish. Cover with the following mixture: Mix in bowl: 2 cans Golden Mushroom Soup
1 can Celery Soup
¼ -½ cup white wine (I use white sherry)
6 stalks celery, cut in ¼'' pieces

After mixture has been spread over doves slice two whole lemons into almost paper thin slices (remove seeds) and place these slices on top of mixture. Cut 1 stick of oleo into pieces and place over this. Cover with aluminum foil and bake either 350 or 400 for 1 hour or 1½ hours. May may add water if it becomes too dry. This is rich so serve over or with grits or wild rice mixture.

This recipe may be used with chicken, rabbit, squirrel, pheasant, and quail as well as dove.

From Plan-overs to...

PLAN-OVERS ARE A MUST for Mrs. Julius Wigdor, a working homemaker, who prepares lunch each day.

By
SHIRLEY PRITCHETT

CHARLESTON — "I was turned loose in the kitchen on Saturdays at an early age and allowed to 'play' and because of that and the time spent at the dining room table with Mother discussing food and recipes — I like to cook," said Mrs. Julius Wigdor.

THE DAILY STANDARD
SIKESTON, MO.
COOKBOOK SUPPLEMENT
FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1972
PAGE 10

A recipe collector who loves to share with family and friends, Mrs. Wigdor confesses to looking for rules which are simple and easy, ordinary enough so the family does not turn up their noses, but different enough to add variety to meals.

Mrs. Wigdor is a charming and delightful hostess and is very much at ease in the business world, as she works with her husband in the family -owned Dollar Discount Store here.

A special note of pride is evident in her voice as she speaks of her children. A son, Dr. David Wigdor, teaches in Lindelwood college inSt. Charles, and their daughter, Mrs. Harry Levy, is a dedicated social worker in Chicago, Ill.

"Someone has said immortality is in your children and I'm very pleased and proud of ours", she said.

Being a working homemaker she is especially fond of casseroles, something which can be placed in the oven before going to work in the morning.

"I couldn't cook without my oven and timer since Julius and I come home for lunch each day," she said.

"Many noon meals are prepared from plan-overs, as she refers to bits of dishes left over from previous meals.

"I go by a recipe the first time around, but after that I'm apt to substitute and I do taste before it gets to the table," she said.

"I love to try new ideas and experiment with new seasonings now and then.

"You must try this — add a few grains of nutmeg to vegetables — it does wonders for the flavor, not enough to know it's there, just makes them very good," she said.

The family is Jewish, and the traditional meals are served during holidays. Mrs. Wigdor makes an effort to prepare some of the dishes, however many are purchased.

She says her hobby was watching others do things — attending shows and concerts — but she did admit to dabbling in crafts and working with papier-mache.

Her recipe for Chicken Paradise is not only delicious but low in calories — only 272 per serving — and the recipe serves four.

"Everyone wants a new way to prepare chicken and this is almost too easy, it freezes and stores well," she said.

She calls her fish chowder recipe an accident.

"It started out as baked fish with canned celery soup for sauce and waited so long in a very slow oven it became chowder," she explained. "Thereafter we simply put it on the top of the stove to start with."

"I was curious about a roast when the ingredients sounded like a spice cake, so I tried it; I didn't tell my family what was in it but they asked for seconds and it's better re-heated the second day.

"I like life, there's so much going on," she smiled. "I like to feed my family and friends, but I'm not crushed if everything doesn't turn out perfectly. I'm happy with my life."

FISH CHOWDER

1 pound cod fish or other white fish
½ cup undiluted celery soup
½ cup sour cream (or ½ cup buttermilk)

Mix soup and sour cream, add fillets, cover and simmer until thick - one-half hour or more.

EGGPLANT PATRICE

1 small eggplant
4 medium tomatoes, sliced
2 medium green peppers, chopped
2 medium onions, chopped
Seasoning (salt, pepper, garlic salt, sugar, monosodium glutamate)

Slice unpeeled eggplant slices in large casserole. Add a layer of sliced tomatoes. Fill spaces with a mixture of chopped green peppers and onions. Sprinkle lightly with each of the seasonings. Add a layer of cheese.

Repeat until casserole is filled, ending with cheese. Cover; bake at 400 degrees until steaming (about ½ hour). Remove cover, reduce heat to 350 degrees, cook until eggplant is tender and sauce thick and golden (about ½ -hour). Makes six servings.

Eggplant Patrice is high in protein and is an ideal meat substitute for lunch or dinner.

2 or 3 T. Spanish olive oil
1 large onion, sliced
2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 whole cloves
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 bay leaf of one T. minced parsley
1 T. vinegar
1 T. catsup
2 cups water
½ ounce bitter chocolate, grated

Dust meat with flour which has been mixed with one-half teaspoon of the salt. Brown meat in the hot olive oil in Dutch oven or in casserole which can be used on top of stove.

Remove meat, add onions and garlic and cook until yellow; replace meat and add remaining ingredients except chocolate. Cover very tight, simmer two and one-half to three hours until meat is very tender. Remove meat to platter, add more liquid if necessary to make two cups sauce.

Taste to see if you think it needs more salt. Add chocolate. Cook until sauce is thickened. Makes eight to ten servings.

SATAN'S VELVET ROBE CAKE

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1/3 cup cold water
½ cup cocoa
2½ cup sifted cake flour
1 cup cold water
3 egg whites
¾ cup sugar
1½ tsp. soda
1/3 cup cold water

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; add 3/4 cup sugar, two tbs. at a time; beat until stiff peaks form. Cream together butter and sugar; add vanilla and salt; add cocoa and water alternately, add flour with one cup cold water.

Fold meringue into this batter. Combine soda and water (1/3 cup) stir well and fold into mixture. Bake in two greased and paper lined 9-inch round pans (or long flat loaf pan) at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until done.

CHICKEN PARADISE

4 chicken breasts, split
1 large McIntosh apple, peeled and diced
½ cup sherry wine (or dry vermouth)
1 T. parsley flakes
Salt and pepper

Trim away border chicken fat attached to the edge of the skin. Place the chicken, skin side up, in a non-stick baking dish. Surround with apples and raisins and pour on the wine. (Most of the wine calories evaporate in the cooking.

Sprinkle with parsley, salt and pepper and bake in a pre-heated 350-degree oven for about 35 minutes, basting occasionally. Increase oven temperature to 425 degrees and bake additional 10 to 15 minutes, until chicken is browned. If sauce evaporates too quickly, add a few tablespoons of water.

GREEN PEPPER JELLY

This may be served with meat or as an appetizer which I will explain at the end of the recipe.

In blender mix:
3 large bell peppers, which have been seeded and cut into pieces
1½ cups cider vinegar

In pan cook:
Pepper mixture above

Keep Your Kitchen Cool

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (AP) — Kitchen goofs happen to everyone, usually at the worst possible time.

THE DAILY STANDARD
SIKESTON, MO.
COOKBOOK SUPPLEMENT
FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1972
PAGE 18

Frances Bucks says you can avoid most of them by keeping cool while you cook, reading recipes ahead of time and going at things the right way.

But for those days when things go wrong anyway, she has some suggestions for repairing, disguising and cleaning up messes.

Miss Bucks is supervisor of food and nutrition for the Ontario department of agriculture, home economics branch.

If you have over-salted soup, dilute it with water or milk if the stock is string enough to stand thinning. If not, cook slices of raw potato in it and throw them away. They will absorb some of the salt.

If you have put too much salt in vegetables and haven't time to cook more, try disguising it with an unseasoned white sauce.

When you take grease off soup or gravy, and haven't time to chill it to solidify the fat, you might find a bulb baster easier to use than a spoon. When the fat coating is shallow, use paper tolws to blow it off.

I your gravy has lumps, strain it though a sieve or whipp it with a wire whip. You can avoid lumps to start with by shaking the flour and water ina jar before you add them to the gravy, to make sure they're well mixed.

Miss Bucks says she doesn't really let lumps worry her.

"If you make gravy in the roasting pan and get up the scraping from the bottom of the pan, you're going to have a few lumps anyway.

She says wire whisks are good for any sauce that you don.t want lumpy or crusty.

"If you're making a white sauce, or anything with milk, they form a bubbly surface and prevent it from scumming."

Speaking of prevention, if you make your own mayonnaise, you can keep it from curdling by adding oil drop by drop to the egg yolk vinegar base.

If it curdles anyway, get another egg yolk, beat it slightly and add the curdled mayonaise to it, beating continuously. As it thickens, it should smooth out again.

ROYAL ORANGE COFFEE CAKE

1 can (11 oz.) refrigerated orange Danish rolls with icing
½ cup flaked coconut
1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese
Toasted coconut

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Grease cookie sheet. Toast 2 tablespoons coconut; set aside. Separate dough into 8 rolls. Press one side of rolls into remaining coconut. Arrange rolls, coconut-side-up, to form an 8-inch ring on prepared cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes until golden brown. In small bowl, combine icing and cream cheese; beat until light and fluffy. Spread over warm coffee cake. Sprinkle with toasted coconut. Serve warm. Store in refrigerator.

S berries

Inspired by spring and vine-fresh berries, recipe varisations for the internationally known "creams" proliferate. One such is Strawberries Romanoff, named for theRomanov dynasty which from 1613 until the 1917 Revolution produced all the czars of Russia. It was created by an unknown, at least unknown today. A French connection is probable, for the delectable dessert has that kind of elegant simplicity. Sophisticated to serve, and so easy to make beginners can do it without help. Risk-proof because a little more or a bit less of any ingredient is a matter of taste. For 6 to 8 servings, half 2 to 3 pints strawberries (after they have been washed, well-dried, and hulled, of course). Stir in gently 1/3 to 1/2 cup superfine sugar for strawberries to form their own juice-syrup. Sprinkle on 1/4 to 1/3 cup kirsch, rum, or both combined with Cointreau. Brandy, curacao, or orange juice are good too. Chill until sugar dissolves, mingling flavors. Fold in 2 cups heavy cream, whipped with powdered sugar and vanilla extract to taste; chill. Serve dramatically for a party buffet ladled from a huge glass or silver bowl enthroned on a summit of crushed ice.

For a richer variation, stir 1 quart softened vanilla ice cream until smooth and fold into whipped cream. Since the commercial ice cream already contains sugar and vanilla, these need not be whipped with the cream.

TASTY TRADITIONS

The pinnacle of pancakes to a Russian is bound to be blini, served traditionally with clarified butter, caviar, and sour cream. In other countries homemade or restaurant-sought blini might seem perplexingly like Yiddish - named blintzes, also served with sour cream. Definitely different, blini are indigenously based on buckwheat flour, often mixed with white, and milk; recipes vary slightly. Moreover, blini are yeast-raised, with a little sugar added to feed and speed the rising fermentation. Rising during preparation – at 2 or 3 intervals spanning a total of 2 to 4½ hours - make blini like no other pancake in the world. And there is rich lightness incorporated when melted butter, egg yolks and whites beaten separately, and whipped cream are folded into the thin batter. Finally, after a last 20 to 30 minute rising, blini are fry-baked on both sides in butter; but usually in a special cast-iron blini pan with indented circles to make all blini equal in size.

In old Russia during the pre-Lenten "Buter Festival" blini were downed by the two or three dozen --at one time. Brag -counts were kept. Sold in the icycold town square from makeshift stalls set up for the carnival week, blini were also served at home. Freshly mixed, baked, stacked and kept warm in their white cloth warp, blini were enjoyed enormously at two meals each day of the festival – but only as a first course.

The first Russian sugar refinery was built in 1702 by order of Peter the Great whose reign initiated a new era of history, absolutely European in form.

The U.S.S.R. now ranks first in world production of beet sugar, accounting for more than ten million tons by 1971 report. But with annual intake of ninety pounds per capita, more sugar is consumed than is natively produced: close to twoand a half million tons more.

To make any unliked or "good for you" food enjoyable, people have been known to add sugar. Even that can have limitations. Gogol, writing in "Dead Souls" about nineteenth century Russian living, has Sobakevitch saying to Tchitchikov: "If you sprinkle frogs with sugar I wouldn't put them into my mouth ..."

If you've really goofed, and burned the pots, there are a few things to do to make cleaning them as easy as possible.

Boil water and a little detergent in them, and scrape off the burned material. Use a wooden spoon for glass or ceramic pots and scour with a non-metalic pad. Metal will usually make a black mark on ceramics.

You might also boil the water with soda or ammonia or viengar in it.

"Soda and ammonia are alkalis and vinegar the opposite, but there doesn't seem to be any rhyme or reason to which you use. Once the food is burned, it doesn't seem to matter. Alkali may darken an aluminum pot, so you might try vinegar in it.

"If you have a darkened aluminum pot, you can clean it with a weak solution of vinegar and water or cream of tartar and water. If you aren't worried about where the stain goes, you can cook acid foods such as tomatoes or rhubarb in the pot and they'll clean it.

"If you have stained enamel or ceramic pots, use a bleach, let it soak, boil it, then wash and rinse it thoroughly."

BROWN SUGAR: Seal and store in freezer. Avoid lumps and annoyance.

EDITORS NOTE — The following recipes are taken from a small cookbook entitled "Festive Manna," by Miriam Field. It is beautifully illustrated with drawings and reproductions of paintings depicting traditional celebrations of Jewish Holidays. Miss Field has selected only a few of the famous good foods from the feast day menus. Best of all, she has provided a warm and informative commentary all about the gathering and eating of "miraculous Manna" which God faithfully delivered to the Israelite people during their Old Testament wanderings.

¾ cup sugar
¾ cup golden raisins
1/3 cup chopped blanched almonds
3 T. Flour
1 tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. nutmeg
2½ cups unsifted flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1½ tsp. salt
2 eggs
1/3 cup peanut oil (may substitute other vegetable oil)
1/3 cup water
1/3 cup sugar
1½ tsp. vanilla

Combine apples, ¾ cup sugar, raisins, chopped almonds, 3 T. flour, cinnamon and nutmeg. Set aside.

Blend the 2½ cups flour with baking powder and salt. Beat together the eggs, oil, water, 1/3 cup sugar and vanilla. Gradually stir into the flour mixture until completely blended. Turn batter out onto well-floured board; with floured hands shape batter into a ball and divide into 3 equal pieces.

On well-floured board, roll out one piece to make a 9-inch square. Place it in an oiled 9-inch square baking pan. Cover with half of the apple mixture. Roll out a second piece to a 9-inch square and place over apple layer; then cover with remaining half of apple mixture. Roll out third piece to a 9-inch square and place over all layers to form top crust. Make several slits to allow the steam to escape.

Preservation of the

There is not enough space in this publication to give the information available on basic freezing techniques. In chatting with housewives, I gathered a dozen or more different ideas about freezing foods. Nearly all are convinced that blanching vegetables briefly before freezing is best. Several women, however, believe that simply washing and draining before packing them into containers speeds up the freezing process, assuring freshness and flavor. The homemaker should be aware of one fact – that unblanched vegetables continue the ripening process even after freezing, whereas the blanching technique brings ripening to a halt by stopping enzyme action. So select your own method, but stick to the basic rules-- cleanliness, careful selection of food, and hurry the foods from garden to freezer in most cases.

Rules vary little concerning fruits. Some families prefer them sweetened and syrup-packed, others use no sugar at all.

There also are numerous packaging materials available--rigid containers made of aluminum, glass, plastic, and waxed cardboards, bags and sheets of cellophane, aluminum foil, paper and plastic -- so, do your own thing. Consider your budget, individual taste and the size of your freezer.

The following pointers are suggested by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for obtaining satisfactory results in home freezing fruits and vegetables.

APPLES — Select full-flavored apples that are crisp and firm, not mealy in texture. Wash, peel and core. Slice into twelfths and pack in the following way for use in pie making.

Sugar Pack. To prevent darkening of apples during preparation, slice them into a solution of 2 T. salt to a gallon of water. Hold in this solution no more than 15 to 20 minutes. Drain.

To retard darkening, place slices in a single layer in steamer; steam 1½ to 2 minutes, depending on thickness of slices. Cool in cold water; drain.

Over each quart (1¼ lbs.) of apple slices, sprinkle evenly ½ cup sugar and stir.

Pack apples into containers and press fruit down, leaving head space. Seal and Freeze.

MELONS (cantaloupe, honeydew, watermelon)— Select firm-fleshed, well-colored, ripe melons, cut in half, remove seeds, and peel. Cut melons into slices, cubes or balls. Pack into containers and cover with syrup (2 cups sugar to 4 cups water). Leave head space, seal and freeze.

ASPARAGUS — Select young, tender stalks with compact tips. Sort according to thickness of stalk.

Wash asparagus thoroughly and cut or break off and discard tough parts of stalks. Leave spears in lengths to fit the package or cut in 2-inch lengths.

Heat stalks in boiling water according to thickness of stalk:

Small stalks 2 minutes
Med. stalks 3 minutes
Large stalks 4 minutes

Cool promptly in cold water and drain.

Pack into containers, leaving no head space. When packing spears, alternate tips and stem ends. In containers that are wider at the top than bottom, pack asparagus with tips down. Seal and freeze.

LIMA BEANS — Select well-filled pods; they should be green but not starchy or mealy. Shell and sort according to size, or leave beans in pods to be shelled after heating and cooling. Heat in boiling water approximately 3 to 4 minutes.

Cool promptly in cold water and drain. Pack into containers, leaving ½-inch head space. Seal and freeze.

BROCCOLI — Select tight, compact dark-green heads with tender stalks free from woodiness. Wash, peel stalks, and trim. Soak for ½ hour in a solution made of 4 tsp. salt to 1 gallon cold water. Split lengthwise into pieces so that flowerets are not more than 1½ inches across.

Heat in steam 5 minutes or in boiling water 3 minutes. Cool promptly in cold water and drain.

Pack into containers, leaving no head space. Seal and freeze.

OKRA — Wash young, tender, green pods thoroughly. Cut off stems in such a way so as not to cut open seed cells.

Heat in boiling water 3 - 4 minutes. Cool in cold water and drain.

Leave whole or slice crosswise.

Pack, leaving head space. Seal and freeze.

PEPPERS — Green peppers frozen without blanching are best for use in un-cooked foods. Heated peppers are easier to pack and good for use in cooking.

Wash firm, thick-walled peppers, cut out stems and cut in half to remove seeds. If desired, cut into ½-inch strips or rings.

Heat in boiling water, if desired, about 2 minutes.

Cool, drain and pack.

SQUASH — Select young squash with small seeds and tender rind. Wash, cut in ½-inch slices. Heat in boiling water for 3 minutes. Cool promptly in cold water and drain.

Pack, leaving ½-inch head space. Seal and freeze.

These freezing tips are a courtesy of the KERR Mason jar company.

Jars retain highest quality in frozen foods (a moisture, vapor- proof and leak-proof container), prevent drying out, mingling of odors, and preserve food value, flavor, color, and better texture.

TAPERED JARS, (wide mouth pint and regular half pint) are especially convenient for freezing — easy to pack — easy to remove frozen food without thawing.

VEGETABLES

No. 1 Wash. Sort for size. Peel, trim, and cut into size.

Fruits for special diets or diabetis diets — unsweetened, or use Sucaryl — follow manufacturer's instructions.

CAKE FROSTINGS: Those made with butter or cream and powdered sugar freeze satisfactorily (those made with egg whites become frothy and spongy).

DO NOT: Freeze in used milk cartons without plastic bag liner. Crevices in carton encourage growth of bacteria.

MARHSMALLOWS: Keep in freezer. Do not dry out and are easier to cut with kitchen shears.

Cases Continued To June 15 For Theft Suspects

BLOOMFIELD — Eight youths, arrested over the weekend in connection with vandalism, burglary and stealing and attempted arson in the area during a six-to-eight- month period, appeared before Judge Koss Blomeyer Thursday in Stoddard County Magistrate Court.

Those appearing were Larry Hisaw, 18, of Dexter; Larry Findley, 18, of Dudley; Candy Gosnell, 18, of Dexter; Jimmy McCanne, 17, of Dexter; Gary Leathers, 17, of Dexter, Darlene McRoy, 18, of Bloomfield; Ricky Warren, 17, of Dexter; and Samuel Gene Gaines, 17, of Dexter.

Cases for the eight were continued to June 15.

Also appearing in connection with the incident was Robert Glen Gorden, accused of being an accessory before the fact of stealing. Gorden was advised and informed and his case was continued to June 15.

A preliminary hearing was set for June 14 for Phillip Griffet, 22, of Advance, being held in the Stoddard County jail waiting trial on charge of forgery; Scott Durbin, 18, of Bloomfield, serving a six-month term for forgery; and Richard Miller, Jr., of Catron, awaiting trial in Stoddard County Circuit Court on charges of rape. All are charged with felonious escape.

The three escaped from the Stoddard County jail in the early morning May 29 and were apprehended late Monday night hiding in a grain bin near Gray Ridge.

Timothy Lefler, being held for Cape Girardeau authorities in the Stoddard County jail for stealing and chargedwith felonious assault on a police officer was advised and informed of his rights. Preliminary hearing was set for June 14 with bond set for $2,500.

Lefler is accused of striking Stoddard County Deputy Sheriff Ed Cockrell on the head June 3 with a home-made blackjack in an apparent jail break attempt while Cockrell was feeding the prisoners.

The advantage of the tank is that unused asphalt will not have to be sent back to its suppliers, but can, instead, store it for future use.

Pilots Threaten 24-Hour Strike Throughout World

LONDON (AP) — The International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations threatened Thursday night to ground most of the world's airlines for 24 hours June 19 unless the United Nations takes effective action against aerial hijacking.

The strike threat came a few hours after 10 Czechs hijacked a Czechoslovac airliner to West Germany, killing the pilot in the struggle to take over the plane. A West German prosecutor said he will try to put the Czechs on trial.

The U.S. Air Line Pilots Association has asked all union workers to join it in a boycott of the airlines of all nations that give refuge to skyjackers.

The international federation said it supported proposals to set up a special commission to recommend measures against nations that harbor or fail to prosecute hijackers, and warned: "If the United Nations fail to take effective action, then IFALPA has initiated plans to institute a worldwide stoppage of air services on June 19, 1972."

The statement added that "associations representing over half the pilot members of IFALPA have already agreed to this course of action." The federation includes 64 associations with a total membership of 50,000 pilots.

The group said it was threatening a strike "in view of the failure and ineffectiveness of measures so far taken by the United Nations, the International Civil Aviation Organization, governments and other bodies and of the continued exposure of passengers, crew and aircraft to intolerable hazards." It called on the U.N. Security Council to discuss the situation no later than June 16.

The federation said it also expects the Algerian government to extradite or adequately punish the two Americans who hijacked a Western Airlines jet to Algiers last weekend after the pair extorted $500,000 in ransom for the passengers.

The U.S. State Department said Thursday that the Algiers government had informed U.S. representatives it would return the money, but a State Department spokesman said the Algerians had not decided what to do with the hijackers, who asked for political asylum.

The seven Czech men and three Czech women who hijacked the airliner to West Germany also asked for political asylum. It seemed likely that this would be granted, but the chief prosecutor of Weiden, where they landed just inside the German border, said he would try to have charges placed against them.

The German police gave this account of the hijacking:

The plane was in route from Marienbad to Prague with 14 passengers and three crewmen. Five minutes after takeoff, Lubomar Adamica, a 23- year- old student from Prague, forced his way into the cockpit, put a pistol to the pilot's neck and ordered him to fly to Nuernberg.

A member of the crew struggled with the gunman, other hijackers came to his aid, the crew member was injured, the copilot's nose was broken, and during the fight the gun went off, killing the pilot.

The copilot took the controls and landed the plane 40 miles short of Nuernberg. Adamica and Jeromir Kerbl, 19, fled toward the woods nearby, but the police caught them. Neither was armed, but a pistol was found nearby.

The two injured crew members were treated at a hospital and released. The three passengers not involved in the hijacking and the crew members asked to be returned home.

Bloomfield To Seek Funds

BLOOMFIELD — Mayor J. C. Newcomer reported to the city council Thursday night that the city will apply to the Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Council for a grant to aid in hiring an extra police officer for one year.

The total of the grant will be $2,160 with the city paying $621 and the federal government paying $1,539.

The council voted to authorize Byron Phillips, chief of police, to employ someone to work under his supervision.

Denver McMillan met with the board members concerning property he has purchased on Bloomfield Ave. McMillan, who wants to build a home on the property, said the boundary of the road continues to move onto his property after grading.

Joe Welborn, city attorney, explained to McMillan and the council members that the road has never been dedicated and therefore has no specific boundaries by the city. Mayor Newcomer will meet with McMillan and other property owners in an attempt to solve the problem.

$21.3 Billion Education Bill Goes To President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent a $ 1.3-billion education bill to President Nixon and a message to the courts that it wants a halt in busing for school desegregation.

The big education bill with its antibusing rider was passed by the House Thursday, 218 to 180. It had passed the Senate on a 63-15 vote.

The bill combines funding authorization for a wide variety of educational programs with a provision that would prevent federal court desegregation orders from taking effect for 18 months unless all appeals have been exhausted.

By the end of the 18 months, supporters of the provision hope, the Supreme Court will have fixed limits for busing for the purpose of school desegregation.

The White House has said Nixon is dissatisfied with the busing provision—he is said to want a stronger moratorium.

BLACK-EYED SUSAN

We do not assume there is any valid connection between Susan's dark eye and her disposition. However, a psychologist might make a case. Susan is a fighter. She thrives on competition. Wherever she gets a root down, she calls it home and is willing to compete against other flowers and all grasses. Farmers do not like her because she takes over fields and meadows. She thrives in wet places and dry.

It is interesting that the Black-Eyed Susan took a reverse route to conquer a nation. In the last century much clover seed was shipped from the west and she came along with it. Most of the nation's weeds have gone from east to west. Already Susan is making settlements in European fields.

Many confuse Susan with the Oxeye daisy. The latter has a golden heart and white petals; Susan has a dark chocolate eye and golden petals. Few flowers offer a more generous harvest of pollen and nectar than the dark-hearted flower.

Bees, wasps, butterflies and beetles all gather for the harvest. Fertilization of the flowers is very complete and a farmer who grows his own hay seed inevitably spreads the seeds of Susan when he sows a new field.

Black-Eyed Susan, however, is not a favorite with farmers. The stiff, wiry stems covered with sharp bristles are not relished by cows or horses. But a countryman walking his acres on a summer day, looks at the patches of extroverts and enjoys the picture of the dark-eyed, yellow-fringed flowers in the meadows and on the uplands.

1. The man who tries to be the right example to every child rather than talk about it.
2. The man who has a passion to help rather than a passion to be helped.
3. The man who is willing to say, "I was wrong. I'm sorry."
4. The man who will look at temptation squarely and say, "No."
5. The man who puts God's business above any other.
6. The man who throws himself totally into a project, then gives the credit for its success to his helpers.
7. The man who has a ready smile and a pat on the back for others.
8. The man who brings his children to church rather than sending them.
9. The man who can see his own faults before he sees the faults of others.
10. The man who gives his money, time and talent without thought of return.

POWER SHORTAGE CATCHING UP WITH US

Summer is icumen in. And with it, a sound of clicking will again be heard in the land — the clicking of switches for air conditioners and fans, ice crushers and water coolers, swimming pool filters and patio lights. They'll all be turned on with increasing frequency, gobbling up more electricity than ever before.

Now is the time to consider both the coming warm weather and the energy dilemma that, in recent years has come to accompany it.

The problem with energy is that it is very similar to a paycheck — nobody pays much attention to it until it is missing.

In the past decade we have been eating off the energy shelf and not building up a sufficient reserve capacity. This does not necessarily mean that enough resources are not now available, but it does mean that they haven't yet been tapped and added to reserves.

In the last few years we have witnessed the end of one energy era in this nation and the beginning of a new one.

Before this change there was a rapid growth of energy consumption, abundant supplies, low prices and complete disregard for the impact on physical environment.

In today's new era of energy use, we are finding that the barrel, indeed, does have a bottom.

It is naive to endorse a no- growth- in- energy policy, for to survive at our current standard of living we must grow. No parent wants his children or grandchildren to have less of anything than he did. But a clean environment is included in this.

Over the last few years some conservation groups have in effect kept large sources of energy off the market until the technology to "keep it clean" is developed. Most experts agree, however, that it is stretching a point to say that blackouts and brownouts have been caused by these environmentalists.

The simple fact is that there have been too many cases where an electric plant was designed and environmental protection was grafted on later instead of being made an integral part.

Actually, in the past we have been kidding ourselves that we have been getting cheap power when the reason was that we weren't paying the full bill. Liabilities against us have been building up in environmental degradation and natural resource depletion.

Today about 75 per cent of the nation's energy comes from oil and gas, 20 per cent from coal, 4 per cent is hydroelectric and less than 1 per cent is nuclear.

Much of this fuel is turned into electricity. But during the conversion process up to two- thirds of the energy is lost as escaping heat and other waste.

This problem of lost efficiency combines with the fact that in the first three years of operation the average reliability of large electrical generating units has been only 60 per cent. That is, full power output was available just more than half the time.

New methods of producing, storing and transmitting electical energy are being studied. But just when realistic alternatives will be available is not known.

Technology had better hurry, though, because scientists project that in the coming 20 years we Americans will consume more energy than has been consumed in all of the 20th century until now.

THE SUDDEN SOVIET FLIP-FLOP

That, the signs indicate, is the thinking of the present management in the Kremlin. The latest signs include not only the summit visit of President Nixon to Moscow but the announcement that the Soviets are going to run a jumbo 32- page supplement in the July issue of Industrial World magazine, a publication serving industrial management in some 141 countries.

Ordered by "Vneshtorgreklama," Russia's international advertising agency, the special section will include 22 advertisements on products ranging from lasers to vodka. Editorial matter will deal with Soviet technological developments, such as lunar robots and computers. At least five pages will be devoted to products and processes that are available for licensing.

"The publication of this section is one more indication of the U.S.S.R.'s increasing interest in more trade with the West," says Industrial World editor and publisher Stephen W. Kann. "The Soviet Union would like more hard currency and is willing to share technology at appropriate terms. This is one of the subjects to be discussed during President Nixon's visit."

As Winston Churchill said, jaw-jaw is better than war-war. And if the jaw-jaw results in trade-trade, that's better yet.

THE WASTE REPORT IS SPIKED

The employe magazine of one of the nation's railroads has appealed to the company loyalty of workers to help solve the problem of abandoned or lost materials.

"In the course of a normal working day," asks the Rock Island "Rocket," " ... how many times has one noticed a pile of spikes, some rail anchors or the plates rusting away in the weeds? Or empty 55- gallon drums collecting water and debris? Or oxygen or acetylene tanks that haven't been moved in years? Or an air hose that has been dropped and forgotten?"

To make employes more cost conscious, the purchasing department has distributed cards listing some common items and their prices.

A single track spike, for instance, costs only 11 cents. "But if you multiply that 11 cents by several hundred spikes thrown away, lost or just left behind at a job scene, the figure starts to mushroom."

Indubitably. And if this company is typical of others in its business, it's no wonder the nation's rail system is in such straits as it is today.

There is such a thing as inventory control, whereby you keep an account of every item purchased and checked out to employes. Rather than relying on their good nature to round up discarded materials, you simply do not permit them to lose or throw away the materials in the first place.

The military services, perhaps, can get away with the careless waste of equipment. They are spared the burden of prudent management because they can dip freely into the bottomless pocket of the taxpayer.

Not so the railroads. Not yet, anyway.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living:

The look of wondering what to do next on the face of a small child after he takes the first two steps of his life without falling down.

The feeling of bedtime drowsiness after a day filled with outdoor activity.

Having someone to console you in a time of grief, and realizing that this someone makes it worthwhile to stay alive.

Walking at night from a stranded car to get a can of gas—and finding a station still open with its lights blazing just 100 feet over the next hill.

You hate to go to the 25th reunion of your high school class because you're fat, and you feel that when you meet your former sweetheart there you'll look ridiculous. So you diet off 30 pounds and when you finally do meet your old flame you discover she has three chins and outweighs you by 15 pounds.

Running for shelter with a pretty girl just as the raindrops begin to patter on the picnic.

Being told by your friends that you actually look a lot handsomer and younger than the picture the local paper printed of you after your election as neighborhood chairman of a charity drive.

Coming upon a really tasty new soft drink that pleases you after you've been on the wagon for three whole months and see nothing but a palate-palling future ahead.

Deciding that pride alone won't permit you to die now because you haven't achieved enough yet to make a respectable brag on your tombstone.

The surprise and respect in your 16-year-old son's face when you show him that his decrepit old man can still kick a football five yards farther than he can.

Thrilling your wife so much with an unexpected gift that she sobs on your shoulder with happiness.

The relief on opening what you fear is going to be a new can of worms—and finding it empty.

For these and other benefits of breath, dear Lord, our thanks, Amen.

UNWANTED GUESTS

The day when big cities bid for presidential nominating conventions may be fading.

Down in Miami and Miami Beach, where the Democrats meet July 10 and the Republicans Aug. 21, there are indications that more than 100,000 demonstrators will be moving in from other parts of the country. Their advance men already have let it be known that the protesters expect shelter, food and medical facilites, Otherwise, they say, there'll be major confrontations.

There is one already. Officials who suggested using city parks for tent cities to accommodate demonstrators have been met by a fusilade of indignation from local residents. This, they contend, would deprive the poor and the old of their places of recreation. Why not, asked one spokesman, park any hippies and dissdents out on the rich folks' golf courses?

By the end of the summer of '72 Miami Beach may wonder why it ever showed interest in being a convention host. But then, if Florida can survive the spring beach bashes of the college crowd, maybe a convention protest is just routine.

LEARNING HARD WAY

Around the turn of the century the then "big business" learned a lesson the hard way. Some of its members operated on a "public be damned" basis. Trouble followed because the public wouldn't be damned. The result was regulation of industry under the antitrust and antimonopoly laws. Growing labor unions enjoyed exemptions from those laws.

Apparently labor leaders learned nothing from the experience of the early industrial leaders. More and more the public has suffered from strikes against which it could not protect itself. One such strike occurred in New York on the state-owned Long Island Railroad. A shutdown of the nation's busiest commuter line by 1,600 union trainmen, stranded 90,000 round trip commuters to NYC. This tie up and strikes by New York City's school teachers, garbage men, subway workers, hospital personnel and utility employees may finally bring the inevitable public reaction.

The New York City situation is not a prounion or antiunion issue. It simply spotlights a public problem. Gov. Rockefeller has speculated the state legislature might be in a mood to stiffen state antistrike laws. Apparently, the labor monopolies are determined to learn the hard way the same as industrial monopolies did many years ago. The public just won't forever accept callous disregard of its needs and interests.

Man is prone to worry about what tomorrow holds in store for him, and while so doing, remains indifferent to the opportunities of today. Today is quite sufficient for the burdens we must bear. It is ours — to live, to love, and to reach out a helping hand to our brother who is staggering under a heavy load. Yesterday is gone. Its memories are all that we have to remind us of a day that was.

Hence, today is all of time we have to build upon. It is the tomorrow we were worrying about yesterday, while tomorrow is still as far away as it then seemed. The only thing for us to do is put our shoulder to the wheel and bend every effort in an attempt to make today a day of accomplishment. Opportunity is knocking now. Let us be up and doing in order that at the rising of tomorrow's sun, we shall not have to face the responsibility of completing a task left undone today.

OCTOBER'S PARTY

October gave a party. The leaves by hundreds came — the Chestnuts, Oaks, and Maples, and leaves of every name. The sunshine spread a carpet, and everything was grand; Miss Weather led the dancing, Professor Wind the band.

The Chestnuts came in yellow, the Oaks in crimson dress, the lovely Misses Maple in scarlet looked their best. All balanced to their partners, and gaily fluttered by; the sight was like a rainbow, new fallen from the sky.

Then in the rustic hollow at hide- and- seek they played. The party closed at sundown, but everybody stayed. Professor Wind played louder, they flew along the ground, and then the party ended in jolly "hands around." — George Cooper.

The Reporter was sent to get the story of the charity ball. The next day the editor called him in.

"Look here," he demanded, "what do you mean by this? 'Among the most beautiful girls was Henry Lewis Bottomley.' Why, you crazy idiot! Old Bottomley isn't a girl — and besides, he's one of our main stockholders."

"I can't help that," returned the realistic reporter, "that's where he was."

OLD REFRAIN

"I took her to dinner, bought her a swell feed, took her to a show, and a night club," said the Man About Town. "Do you know what she said when I was taking her home?"

"No," said his friend.

"Aha. So you've been out with her too!"

MORE MONEY FOR THE U.N.?

In spite of all the insults which the United Nations has leveled at our country, the U.S. State Department has recommended an increase in U.S. contributions to that organization.

Many sound-thinking Congressmen have said that at the very least the U.S. should reduce its share of U.N. funds. President Nixon himself recommended a cut from 31% to 25%. But the State Department budget submitted to Congress calls for an increase of $22 million.

Fortunately, some members of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee in charge of the State Department budget are unwilling to give more money to the United Nations. Chairman Wayne Hays of Ohio said, when asked if he hoped to cut the budget: "You can say that definitely is my intention. If the committee will support me, this budget will be a lot leaner and more realistic when we get through with it."

Supporters of budget-cutting have assembled telling facts regarding the amount of money our government has poured into the U.N. As reported in Robert Allen's syndicated column, the U.S. has given the organization and its affiliates a total of $4.1 billion, or 40% of all the money contributed to the U.N.

The U.S. also purchased $141 million worth of U.N. bonds, about two-thirds of which bear no interest, while the rest pay only 2 %. Last year our contribution was more than the total paid by 117 member nations. Furthermore, as of last November, 86 U.N. members were in arrears to the tune of $186,867,000. Now is the time for constructive Congressmen to bring an end to this indefensible situation. HLH

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon and Leonid Brezhnev reached a "tacit understanding" during their secret Kremlin conversations that the two superpowers will start to disengage from Vietnam.

The President came home from Moscow convinced that the Russians want to end the Vietnam War but don't want to appear less stalwart in their support of Hanoi than the Chinese.

The war has been a drain on the Russians who have been supplying North Vietnam with expensive military hardware. Out of the Moscow meeting, therefore, may come a reduction in both Soviet and American arms shipments to the rival Vietnams.

Both Nixon and Brezhnev expressed a willingness, if they didn't reach a precise agreement, to phase down military aid to the opposing sides. The subject is so delicate inside the Kremlin, however, that the President carefully refrained from discussing Vietnam in his TV report to the Soviet people.

He brought to Moscow with him background papers, which portray the Kremlin leaders as almost paranoiac about the Chinese. In the early war years, the Soviets would have nothing to do with peace efforts, lest it confirm Chinese charges that they were soft on the war.

The secret papers prepared for Nixon tell how the Soviet government, in May 1965, refused even to deliver a peace message to the North Vietnamese. Lyndon Johnson merely wanted to notify Hanoi that he was ordering a bombing pause.

"I am not a postman," grumped Nikolai Firyubin, the Deputy Foreign Misister, when he was asked to relay the message. He suggested that the Americans find their "own ways of transmitting messages."

American Ambassador Foy Kohler, in a report to the State Department, blamed the j incident upon "Soviet sensitivity" toward the Chinese Communists.

Kosygin's phone tapped

Washington was surprised, therefore, to find Soviet Premier Aleksei Kosygin eager two years later to serve as an intermediary between the United States and North VIetnam. He made the offer in February 1967, during talks with British leaders in London.

His phone calls were intercepted and he was overheard reporting jubilantly to Brezhnev in Moscow: "There's a great possibility of achieving the aim, if the Vietnamese will understand the present situation that we have passed to them. They will have to decide."

The North Vietnamese, however, rejected the overtures. Afterward, Kosygin ruefully told American Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow that the role of the mediator was uncomfortable.

"They either complicated the problem," he said, "or pretended they were doing something when in fact they were not."

Kosygin said his intervention in London had provoked "fury" in Peking but that the Chinese had been the winners in the end when his efforts failed.

Then he asked Thompson suspiciously whether "the Chinese had approached the US (about the) possibility of negotiations on Vietnam." The ambassador conjectured afterward that Kosygin may have thought the Chinese encouraged the United States to start negotiations, knowing they would fail and thus embarrass the Soviet Union.

Kosygin in Hanoi

Yet in a fascinating aside, Kosygin recalled that he personally had been in Hanoi when the United States began bombing North Nietnam.

"Why did not the U. S. turn to him at that time and explain to him its problems?" he asked the American ambassador. Kosygin didn't say, however, what he would have done.

In view of this background, Nixon handled the Chinese angle delicately in his talks with Brezhnev. No transcript was made except for the President's personal notes. However, he told aides afterward that the Vietnam discussions had been "intent" but "productive." Both the United States and Russia, he said, will begin backing away from the war.

The President, incidentally, was wary about his own credibility with Peking. He instructed his subordinates not to say anything to their Soviet counterparts that Chinese premier Chou En-lai couldn't read. In other words, he didn't want U. S. negotiators telling the Soviets one thing and the Chinese another.

Nader's premonition

Only hours before an Air Force precision flyer died in a crash at the Transpo '72 show, consumer advocate Ralph Nader had begged Transportation Secretary John Volpe to call off the midair stunts.

Nader had decided to go directly to Volpe after the death of a 30-year-old duster who collided in an air race and an Australian air acrobat who was thrown from his huge kite.

These and several narrow escapes at the big transportation show had convinced Nader that the air exhibits were telling the public more about the horrors of transportation than its benefits.

Last Saturday, after the crop duster's death, Nader sent a telegram to Volpe urging him to call off the stunts. But, on an impulse, he decided to try to contact Volpe directly with a plea to end Sunday's busy schedule.

At 7 p.m., he reached Volpe's special assistant, Joe Bosco, who was impressed with Nader's urgent tone. Bosco located Volpe and passed on to him the consumer advocate's strange premonition.

Volpe told Bosco to get in touch with Transpo's general director, William Bird, and to advise him to weigh Nader's warning but to make up his own mind. Bird quickly decided the show must go on -- and 21 hours after Nader's warning, the Air Force flyer plunged to his death.

Want Mafia Showdown: Angry Young Congressmen Gang Up On Crime Syndicate To Smach Food Racketeers' Terror

WASHINGTON — Soon a coalition of Federal and regional investigators, determined to wipe out the Mafia's terror tax on chunks of the nation's food sales, will prove that chain stores and supermarkets, as well as jet planes and luxury liners, have been "held" for ransom.

Rarely have so many of the "muscle-hoods" been probed by so many investigative district and Federal attorneys--now surrounding a combination of Mafiosi and union officials who not only have been forcing beef prices up but have been attempting to terrorize big store managers into stocking their shelves with underworld controlled "consumer" brand goods.

There will be outraged outcries from at least one national union--the 500,000-member Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America (AFL-CIO). Some of its regional unions literally are encircled by Justice Dept. strike forces and district attorneys in the East. It might lighten this grim tale a bit to report that while two big Amalgamated locals -- 464 (13,000 members) and 174 (25,000 members)-- are under surveillance by the New Jersey, Brooklyn and New York Southern District (joint) Justice Dept. strike forces, one sister local, 342, is scheduling a series of consumer education seminars.

It will be fascinating to learn whether the New York Local 342 will analyze the mulcting of the public--especially the ghetto poor--by some leaders of locals 464 (East Orange, J. J.) and 174 of New York City, the largest meat cutters local in the country. Both these latter unions work together.

Leaders of the powerful Jersey local 464 have been indicted on charges of embezzling some $51,000. And these men must have some swat. They've controlled that local since February 1947.

As for local 174, it is now being probed by the Manhattan District Attorney, by the Southern District which, under Whitney North Seymour, Jr., hopes to convene and conclude a grand jury by the fall, by the unique joint Federal-regional strike force created by President Nixon two years ago, and by an angered band of agricultural area Congressmen.

Led by Montana's freshman Congressman, John Melcher, these Representatives have constituted themselves "The Food and Agricultural Task Force." Never did I think I'd write of any Congressman as a Lochinvar. But John Melcher has come out of the West to this capital to show it what fresh and refreshing indignation can do.

It was during routine sessions of the House Agricultural subcommittee on Livestock and Grain that he ran across the rackets, made some, at first naive, inquiries and discovered that the combination fronts for organized crime and shady local union chiefs were taking a terror toll of hundreds of millions of dollars from Northeastern household tables.

"Our function," said Melcher of his task force the other day, "is to continue to focus the attention of a large part of the Congress on this cancerous, continuous drainage of peoples' money by the racketeers in and out of those union locals and their allies in organized crime.

"When you take the food dollars from the impoverished people in areas from Baltimore to Boston and see it contributed to racketeers, it is a sad commentary on law and justice in this country."

Second in command of the task force is 43-year-old freshman congressman Bob Bergland of Minnesota. Not many of us have covered these newcomers. But they seem to be a new breed who won't fake any gaff from latter-day rustlers who come between the grain and meat growers and the big city customers.

Speaking in the task force's name, Melcher and Bergland have officially asked Federal agencies for help.

They turned not only to the Justice Dept. seeking FBI aid, but to the National Labor Relations Board, the Internal Revenue Service, the Agriculture Dept. and the General Accounting Office (GAO). This latter unit of unimpeachable pencil-wielding auditor-hawks replied it did not have jurisdiction over criminal activities--but it was willing and eager to help cooperate in determining how prices are set in these markets which extend westward into Pennsylvania and Ohio.

What has angered the young Congressional task force is the failure of national union officials to act or respond or to make contact. Word of the investigations has seeped all through the big Meat Cutters Union. It is the talk of the wholesale meat industry.

Estimates put the increased prices forced by threats to wholesalers and retailers at well over $100 million a year in the Northeast alone. This will be compounded by results of a Senate probe into pressure on supermarkets.

Yet no one from the inner circle cries out nor moves against the so-called regional labor leaders who treat their proletarian followers as just so many hunks of meat.

Kleindienst Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "humbled and flattered" Richard G. Kleindienst has become the nation's top law-enforcement officer after a four-month controversy which could set the tone for the upcoming presidential campaign.

The 64-19 Senate vote Thursday approving Kleindienst, a 48-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., lawyer, as attorney general ended the longest confirmation fight for a presidential nominee in memory.

Throughout the 24 days of hearings on the nomination of Kleindienst to succeed John N. Mitchell, liberal Democrats centered their attack on the administration's ties with big business, a theme they are likely to repeat during the fall's presidential campaign.

Specifically, they attempted to discredit Kleindienst's denial that he played a role in settlement of three antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., the nation's ninth-largest business.

Settlement of the antitrust suits was linked by columnist Jack Anderson with ITT's commitment of up to $400,000 to San Diego to help the city obtain this summer's Republican National Convention, later moved to Miami Beach.

Despite grumblings that he was too conservative and had helped formulate hard-nosed Justice Department policies for dealing with demonstrators and dissenters, Kleindienst won the Senate Judiciary Committee's unanimous approval the first time around.

East Prairie Okays Paving Of Alley

EAST PRAIRIE — In a brief session last night the city council heard reports from the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation center, approved a request for paving an alley and adopted a resolution entering the city into contract with Ed Duty.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brown and Mrs. Alene Ivie of the DAEOC center briefly outlined new services offered by the center and expressed their appreciation for the city's cooperation in employing workers through the center.

City Manager Gene Cullen informed the council of a request from William Pope for the paving of the alley which runs between his automobile agency and a city-owned building. The council approved his request and instructed Cullen to contact Eules Presson who owns adjoing property at the other end of the alley which connects Washington and Lincoln Avenue.

A resolution entering the city into contract with Ed Duty for $850 for digging of a ditch and installation of drainage tile from South Martin to the city limits was adopted.

In routine business the council approved the collector's report showing a total of $8,480.80 collected during the month of May.

Accounts payable in the amount of $2,968.98 were approved and Police Judge J. Marvin Bryan's report showing $610 fines during May was accepted.

The council discussed the need for a new street sweeper and Manager Cullen was instructed to inquire about the cost of a machine.

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Battling Boozers

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Timmy hoisted a few at the Four-Leaf Clover and then got into an argument with Kelly and Hennessy. It wasn't until he started to use strong words, however, in the tavernacular of the bar, that the dispute got out of hand.

A fight ensued and Kelly and Hennessay battered Timmy to the floor. To Timmy's great relief, a bouncer quickly appeared and pulled Kelly and Hennessy off his back and tossed them out into the street.

His great relief, however, was short lived. When the bouncer returned, he procedded to toss poor old Timmy out into the street also and landed right between Kelly and Hennessy. And once again the melee was on. When it was over, Timmy was the recipient of one heck of a beating.

"As a patron in his bar," Timmy complained in court, "the owner had a duty to protect me. And he didn't do it. Throwing me out into the street where Kelly and Hennessy were waiting for me was like throwing me under the wheels of a speeding train."

"My only obligation," retorted the owner, "was to maintain peace and order in my bar for the protection of my customers. And by heaving Kelly, Hennessy and Timmy into the street, that's just what I was doing, protecting my customers. What went on in the street was none of my business.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the bar owner responsible for Timmy's street-incurred injuries?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a tavern owner has a duty to exercise care to protect his patrons. That by tossing Timmy into danger, he failed in his duty to protect him. (Based upon a 1957 Kansas City Court of Appeals Decision)

$180 To Nursing Home Group

BENTON — Three representatives of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 1 donated $180 to the Committee for the Scott County Nursing Home Thursday morning at Benton.

Attorney Jim Greene, representative for the nursing home committee said, "The donation is merely a guarantee that the county will not be responsible for advertising costs due to an unfavorable outcome in a possible preference election in the August 8 primary."

The June 19 hearing will determine if petitioning procedures for the election are in order.

RISCO — Lighted white tapers in arched candelabra accented by a large blue satin bow and entwined greenery formed the background for the wedding of Miss Sandra Faye McNeely to Jimmie Charles Midgett of 8:00 o'clock Saturday evening, at First Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Delmar Lee McNeely and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aubrey Midgett, all of Risco.

Butane candles were placed on the organ and piano, and blue satin bows formed pew-markers. A three-candle candelabra held tapers for the unity candle ceremony, symbolizing the joining together of man and wife.

Miss Phyllis Hon, organist played the wedding march, and Miss Marie Fortner, pianist, accompanied soloist E.D. Doss, minister of music at First Baptist Church, Parma, as he sang "More" and "Wedding Prayer."

A large, beaded, shirred-satin bow formed her headdress and held secure a three- tiered fingertip veil of tulle which extended into a single layered chapel train. She carried a bouquet of daisies with white satin streamers and wore white patina shoes to complete her attire.

Mrs. Duane Stelter of Beloit, Wis., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a blue dotted swiss dress with princess lines accented by white daisy trim repeated on sleeves and neckline. A stand-up collar and short puffed sleeves were also featured.

Bridesmaids were Miss Darlene Midgett, sister of the groom, and Miss Barbara McNeely, sister of the bride. Miss Judy McNeely, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Candle lighters and ushers were Ronnie Albritton and Dennis Kellick, cousin of the groom.

Duane Stelter of Beloit Wis. was best man, Groomsmen were Steve Self and Larry Hill and junior groomsman was Randy Stafford of Dexter.

Mrs. Midgett chose a dress of blue and lavender floral design with white accessories and a white carnation corsage with blue streamers.

Mrs. R.T. McGee, Miss Teresa McGee and Mrs. Ernest Phelan, aunt of the bride, served at the reception. The wedding cake was three-tiered with white frosting accented by rainbow colored flowers. It was topped by miniature bride and groom and a pair of white doves, each carrying a wedding ring.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Phelan, Christina King, Rhonda Kay Phelan, Mrs. Janie Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McNeely, Mrs. Fannie Pipkin, Pamela Pipkin and Mrs. Lillian Bradham, all of Poplar Bluff; Mr. and Mrs. Cash Metcalf of Qulin; Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Fortner, Marie and Martha Fortner of Malden; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Province, Bobby and Province of Benton, Ill.; Mrs. Becky Norris of Malden; Mr. and Mrs. E.D. Doss of Parma; Mrs. Lyndell Stevens of Malden; and Zerlene Stafford and Randy Stafford of Dexter.

The bride attended schools in Poplar Bluff, South Beloit, Ill., and is a 1972 graduate of Risco High School.

Mrs. Kit Bond A Guest In Area Towns Yesterday

NEW MADRID — "The best thing that can happen to benefit all the people is the election of Kit Bond as governor," Mrs. Carolyn Bond, wife of the state auditor and republican candidate for nomination as governor, told a group attending a reception Thursday given for her by the New Madrid County Republican Club.

"A lot of Democrats in the state of Missouri are going to vote for Kit Bond. Many Democrats have told us they are ready for a change."

After their "Bond wagon" campaign through the state, Mrs. Bond said, "We have found the people in the state set Kit Bond and Jack Danforth apart from the rest of state government. The people like the way they are conducting their offices -- not as patronage offices but on basis of merit."

She urged Republicans to show support of their candidate in the August primary as well as in November. In expressing optimism for a Republican governor for the first time in 32 years, Mrs. Bond said the Democrats nominee will have many fences to mend between August and November.

Mrs. Bond visited Charleston for a 10 a.m. coffee held at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Webb, 204 Court Street. At 1:30 p.m. she was guest for a coffee in Caruthersville, where Mrs. Mary Jane Crysler and Mrs. T.A. Haggard were hostesses.

Her final stop before returning to Jefferson City was in Kennett for a 3 p.m. coffee.

Ann Landers

Widowed Woman Knows How To Get And Keep A Man

Dear Ann Landers: When I read the poem from the wife to "The Other Woman" I began to think about the married couples who live in this neighborhood. Here are a few thumbnail sketches of the wives:

Bernice: Wears curlers 24 hours a day. Is a chronic complainer and gets stoned every afternoon on beer. By the time her husband comes home for dinner she is staggering around the kitchen, blind.

Marge: Visits neighbors all day and says she can't do housework except on impulse. These impulses always come at night -- when her husband says he is getting ready for bed.

Emily: Weighs 280 pounds. When she eats (which is all the time), she drops food on her chin and clothing. Her bosom looks like a snack tray.

Lenore: Has told all the neighbors ladies they are fools to let their husbands "use" them as substitute call girls. She says SEX is DEGRADING unless a woman is in the mood. Her "moods" come twice a year.

I am a widow (under 40) and have been propositioned by every one of their husbands. One soft smile, one wide-eyed, listening look and I could be the Other Woman. It shouldn't be that way. Tell 'em, will you? --Huntington Station Dear Hunt: Tell 'em what? There's nothing left to say!

Dear Ann Landers: I am divorced and my husband has remarried. I gave him custody of our 13-year -old son because I felt it would be better for an adolescent male to be with his father. I have custody of our 16-year old daughter. She is a handful but we get along reasonably well.

Last night I came home from my night-school class early. The teacher became ill and the class was cancelled. I caught my daughter and her boyfriend in a most embarrassing situation. There is no question about what they were doing.

The boy is 17 --- her steady - a nice kid, good student, no bum. He left without saying anything. My daughter was so humiliated she couldn't face me. It's just as well. I was completely unstrung and wouldn't have known how to respond. Please tell me how to deal with this situation. I am -- In Pieces

Dear I.P.: You sound like an intelligent woman so I needn't tell you there should be no yelling, berating or punishing. Once a girl has crossed that line the chances for total abstinence are slim.

Discuss with her the seriousness of a physical relationship -- the risks, the commitment, the emotional investment. Make certain she has plenty of information. A mother who does this is not condoning pre-marital sex, she is being sensible and realistic.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm heartsick over this and don't know what to do. Last week I was watching my favorite soap opera on TV and my dear friend and next door neighbor telephoned. I said, "I'm washing my hair, I'll call you back." Five minutes later she knocked on the door. She had brought me a freshly baked cake. She could see I was not washing my hair and was very hurt. I apologized but she would not accept my apologies. I've called her three times since but each time she says, "I'm washing my hair," and hangs up.

Please tell me what to do now. --Sorry In Sacramento

Dear Sorry: Forget it. You've let her know you're sorry and there's nothing more to say or do.

If the friendship ends because of this, it wasn't worth much.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage --What To Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Kinder

Kinder-Jackson

AID— The wedding of Joyce Lea Jackson and Steven L. Kinder was solemnized at 8 p.m. June 1 in the Liberty Hill General Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Jackson of Dexter Route Two and Kinder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kinder of Essex Route Two.

The Rev. Henry Jordan performed the double ring ceremony before a background of a gold arch intertwined with boxwood. Two gold wedding bells secured with a large multicolored bow centered the arch. Flanking the altar were large baskets of multicolored roses, carnations, poms, daisies, gladiolus, babysbreath and seafoamstatus. Potted ferns and spiral candelabras completed the altar setting.

Candles were lighted by ushers Dan McGhee and Mike Lane, both of Essex.

Miss Rayetta Mangrum of Puxico, pianist, played pre-nuptial music and accompanied Mike Lane as he sang, "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of white satin overlaid with chantilly lace. It featured a mandarin collar, long sleeves of lace and a chapel length train. Her veil of illusion was secured to a cluster of white silk roses and jeweled leaves. She carried a bouquet of multicolored flowers.

Martha Hughes served as her sister's matron of honor. Dalelene Myrick of Dexter and Teresa Kinder of Essex, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaids.

They wore identical floor length, empire- styled dresses of whipped cream in pastel shades of green, yellow and lavender. They carried multicolored nosegays with streamers.

Miss Lisa Honey of Bloomfield was flower girl. She wore a floor length dress of blue identical to the bridesmaids. She carried a white basket of blue flowers.

Kinder chose Tom Wethington of Essex as best man. Terry Kinder of Essex and Randy Kinder of Dexter, both brothers of the groom, were groomsmen.

Ringbearer was Douglas Yeakey of Bloomfield.

A reception was given following the ceremony in the church basement. Guests were served by Mrs. Patty Kinder of Essex and Mrs. Peggy Kinder, Mrs. Rosa Pruitt and Mrs. Velma Cox, all of Dexter.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jackson selected a knit dress off pink and beige accessories. Mrs. Kinder chose a green two- piece dress of knit and lace and white accessories. Each wore a corsage of multicolored flowers.

Mrs. Kinder is a graduate of Bloomfield High School and Three Rivers community College. Kinder is a graduate of Richland High School of Essex.

After June 5 the couple will live at 210 South Hanover in Cape Girardeau where Kinder is enrolled in radiology training at St. Francis Hospital. Mrs. Kinder will be doing her on-the- job training as a dental assistant in the office of Dr. W. T. Lewis in Jackson.

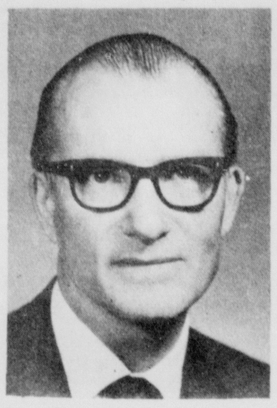
New Pastor To Be In Pulpit Sunday



Rev. Otto Dvorak

The Rev. Otto L. Dvorak, newly appointed pastor of First United Methodist Church, will be in the pulpit for the first time Sunday for the 10:45 a.m. worship service.

The Rev. Mr. Dvorak comes to Sikeston from Jefferson City where he has served as superintendent of the Jefferson City- Rolla District for three years. Announcement of the Rev. Mr. Dvorak's appointment as pastor was made May 11 by Bishop Eugene Frank of St. Louis.

The pastorate was vacated by the death March 6 of the Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, who had served the congregation since 1964. In the meantime, the Rev. Ralph Dodson of Dexter, an instructor at Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau, has served as interim pastor for two months.

Prior to assuming the Jefferson City- Rolla District Superintendent's position, the Rev. Mr. Dvorak pastored congregations in Doniphan, Dexter, Senath, Malden, Moberly and First United Methodist of St. Charles.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ludvik Dvorak of Dudley, the future minister graduated from Gideon High School, earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from Central Methodist College in Fayette and a Master of Theology degree from Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex.

The Rev. Mr. Dvorak is married and he and his wife Claudia are parents of one son, Air Force Tech. Sgt. Robert Dvorak who is stationed in Honolulu, Hawaii; and two daughters, Mrs. Tom Kennedy of St. Ann and Ruth Ellen of Jefferson City. They also have four grandchildren.

MEETING GOD THROUGH SCRIPTURES

There are many sources that one can turn to in search of inspiration and authority.

Unfortunately too many fail to realize the influence of our Scriptures. The Bible has been described as the most widely sold book in the world. Yet at the same time it has been termed the least widely read.

Certainly there are other sources of inspiration, such as biographies of such men as Augustine, Luther, the Wesleys, and others who overcame obstacles to achieve greatness.

Too many claim the Bible fails "to turn them on" so they avoid reading it. Too many feel it is an ancient volume that is not appropriate in this age marked by unusual freedoms seldom experienced in previous ages.

Some problems need to be answered.

Have we lost the know-how to read it?

Do we know what to look for when we read it?

One could, of course, utilize the various translations, the commentaries, and the Bible dictionaries. Probably best of all, one could simply go to a Bible and study the examples of men mentioned in the various accounts.

In Timothy we learn that "all scripture is inspired by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work."

One of the best ways to learn the scriptures is to start early in one's life. Fortunate is the person who is grounded in God's teachings by his parents and is provided with excellent examples of Christian living.

The Bible remains the central focal point for our devotional life. To receive the ultimate benefit we must learn to "listen" to God through the Scripture.

How do we know the Bible is inspired? Primarily because it inspires those who read it. In many ways we judge the effectiveness of an idea or a product by the ways it affects individuals. Such examples are plentiful in the Bible.

Our young persons are approaching the Bible with many questions, much as older persons have done through the ages. Today we have more knowledge available than ever before.

This increases some of our difficulty in understanding the Bible. With more scientific knowledge available we want to "prove" stories from the Bible.

What do we mean by "prove" here? Is it an excuse to cover our doubts, our questions, or our unwillingness to accept the Bible?

Psalms advise the young man just starting out in life to keep his life clean. He is advised to beware of a million voices he will hear. Such teachings are all about us today.

Unfortunately too many persons turn to other sources for advice. It seems to be easier to consult the astrology columns or the advice articles. Or even to listen to the gossip next door.

The Bible is not a textbook, not even a book. Rather it is a collection of pamphlets written over a period of some twelve hundred years in many languages.

Leslie D. Weatherhead says the Bible reveals a God who cares, reveals the purposefulness of God, reveals a God who cannot be defeated, and reveals a God who endlessly seeks to be the friend and guide and savior of men.

One doesn't become a Christian merely by joining a church, attending the services, or by reading the Bible. He must do more. He must let the messages from the Bible penetrate his heart and inspire him to believe in God.

Four-Church Bible School Enrolls 288

An ecumenical Vacation Bible School was held this week at First United Methodist Church. Churches participating were First United Methodist Church, St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church and First Christian Church.

The idea for combining Vacation Bible Schools was that of the late Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, pastor of First United Methodist Church at the time of his death early this year. Ministers of the four churches decided to go ahead with the idea this summer in his honor.

Although this is the first year the churches in Sikeston have combined, the idea is not a new one. Records show that years ago when churches were smaller they combined every summer for a Bible school session. Rev. Wagner wanted to see the same thing done in Sikeston.

The ministers are the Rev. Durward Penry, pastor of First Christian; the Rev. Tom Bass, pastor of Hunter Memorial; Father Robert Schumacher, pastor of St. Francis Xavier; and the Rev. Otto Dvorak, pastor of First Methodist.

There were 288 children enrolled in the Vacation Bible School with Mrs. Allen Harris, Jr., of First Methodist as director. The school started Monday and ended today.

The teachers and staff of 50 were completely ecumenical.

Department heads included Mrs. David Bailey, First Christian, young children's department; Sister Elaine Georger, St. Francis Xavier, elementary department; and Mrs. Glenn Barks, First Presbyterian, young people's department.

Mrs. Peter MacLaughlin, First Presbyterian, was secretary and Mrs. Joe McCord, First Christian, was in charge of the kitchen.

The children sent up 300 helium- filled balloons today with a message about their Bible school. They hope to get a response from someone in another town or state.

Corner On Qestions

By Pastor Don Wilson

QUESTION: WHY SHOULD REPENTANCE OF SIN BE RE-EMPHASIZED?

ANSWER: Advertising is powerful! Desire is created for "things" about which man knows little and needs less. Pride is the appeal and fashion is its gimmick. Superficial image builders spot the trappings of the good life, while they are themselves bereft of the ingredients that make life good. Preaching today is so infected by shallowness. In an era of sophisticated communication, the "whole" Gospel of God is UNcommunicated; therefore, mere PROFESSING Christians shall discover that, "There is a way which SEEMETH right unto a man, but the end there of are the ways of death."

Preachers formulate a gospel which often disguises or drops doctrine. To ascertain quanitity, many evangelicals preach merely a gospel - shell ... correct but too limited to effect spiritual birth. While either eliminating or substituting the doctrine of HELL, the watered-down gospel resolves its deletion of REPENTANCE by affirmation of the truth, "BELIEVE on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." Of course the unbeliever remains unconverted; nevertheless, effectual believing is impossible without genuine repentance of sin.

To merely excite the EMOTIONS is equally erroneous with appeal solely to the INTELLECT.

THE BIBLE | 34. Joseph's Brothers Came to Buy Corn

The famine was throughout all lands and in Canaan Jacob and his sons were suffering from it. Jacob called his sons to him and told them he had heard there was plenty of grain in Egypt and that they should go and buy corn there. He sent them all but Benjamin, who was the youngest and was Joseph's blood brother.

"And Joseph was the Governor over the land, and he it was that sold to all the people of the land: and Joseph's brethren came, and bowed down themselves before him with their faces to the earth."

Genesis 42:6.

They did not recognize Joseph as their brother but he recognized them and remembered his dreams concerning them. Joseph was rough with them and accused them of being spies. But they protested that they came from Canaan only to buy corn. They told Joseph of their youngest brother at home with their father. Joseph wanted to see Benjamin so he told them that he would hold one of them as prisoner and they could take corn back to ther father in Canaan, but they would have to bring Benjamin to him to verify their story as well as save the brother who was a prisoner. Reuben, one of the brothers, remembered what they had done to Joseph and told his brothers that they were paying for their guilt.

They were given corn and returned to their father and told him all that had happened. When they opened the sacks of corn the money for it was still in the sacks and they were bewildered and afraid.

Card Surge Drops Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Veteran right-hander Diego Segui, who needed two months for his first American League victory, required less than one day for his initial National League triumph against the reeling San Francisco Giants.

Segui, who was acquired by the St. Louis Carinals from the Oakland A's Wednesday afternoon, hurled three innings of one-hit baseball to receive credit for St. Louis' 6-4 victory over the Giants Thursday night.

"I had to depend on Cards catcher Ted Simmons because nobody had told me about the Giants' batters," said Segui. "I just went out and tried to throw strikes and was fortunate that I could put the ball where I wanted."

"I was surprised I would win so soon," he said. "But I was ready to pitch because I hadn't thrown since facing Baltimore last Friday."

Segui, who was 0-1 with the A's in six appearances, has mixed emotions about leaving first-place Oakland for St. Louis. "I will really miss Campy (Bert Campaneris) because he was like a brother to me after all these years."

Segui added, "But I'm happy because my home is in Kansas City, and that's close to St. Louis.

"When I joined the A's in 1962, I pitched on opening day, but I didn't get my first American League win until June. I just hope I can keep helping the Cardinals."

Segui was the beneficiary of a five-run, eighth-inning Cardinals' rally that chased loser Sam McDowell, 6-4, and handed the Giants their sixth straight setback.

McDowell, who has not won since May 22, entered the eighth with a 4-1 lead and nine strikeouts to his credit. McDowell helped forge that advantage with a two-run triple in the sixth.

But Ted Sizemore opened the eighth with a walk, and Matty Alou and Joe Torre walked, loading the bases. Simmons followed with a three-run triple, chasing McDowell, and Donn Clendenon greeted reliever Don McMahon with a game-winning two-run homer.

ABA May Cut Back Teams

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association begins a two-day meeting next Monday, and among the items to be considered are the reductions of teams and even the possible dissolution of the league.

Sources within the league told The Associated Press on Thursday that Memphis, Pittsburgh and Florida are clubs that may be cut from the 11-team league in order to bolster the financial stability of the organization.

Florida and Pittsburgh appear the prime choices to be cut since the Floridians attracted only 87,000 home fans last year and the Condors drew only 89,000.

Memphis, which had an attendance of 130,000, has a good sports building, and despite its drawing difficulty, the sources said some powers in the league would like to save the franchise in that city.

Dissolving the league would make it possible for the National Basketball Association to pick up the strongest teams from the ABA. It would also allow the leagues to circumvent the restraining order barring a merger of the ABA and NBA. Hearings before a congressional committee on the merger have been chaired by Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C. who is against the merger.

An ABA source said the dissolving of the league might be tried but it was not likely because of the number of lawsuits it would bring from the players and their organizations, which originally obtained the federal injunctions barring the merger.

Two Homers Hightlight L.L. Play

Little League action was at tis best Thursday night at Puckett, Farris and the Senior High fields. In the National League, Pizza Inn walked over Lewis Furniture 18-7. It was Kiwanis 9, A & B 2 in the second game.

Jenkins slipped past Bridger, 14-13, to lead off the night in American League play, and Police downed First National, 16-11. Bank of Sikeston lost to Kingsway Plaza by a 9-5 margin and the Brothers Club squad became easy prey for Hart's Bread in a 13-5 defeat in the Musial League.

Hal Butler homered to lead the Kiwanis squad to victory with his fifth- inning connection. Butler was also the winning pitcher, handing the loss to Watson of A & B.

It was a fierce battle from the plate in the First National victory over Police with both teams having over twenty hits.

Jenkins pounded ten more hits than Bridger but only won by a one- run margin. Right- fielder Sanders led with five hits.

Marty Williams was the winning moundsman for Kingsway and Andy Rodgers was handed the loss for Bank of Sikeston. The Bankers led in number of hits but took the loss anyway.

Second baseman Sutton homered and shortstop Smith slammed a triple which, along with 10 walks, paved the way to Harts Bread's win over Brothers Club.

In the following contest, optimist clobbered Leible Implement with second and fourth inning rallies paving the way to a soaring 10-0 victory.

Hewitt and Blankenship shared mound duties, with Hewitt collecting the win for Hart's Standard. First baseman Saulters slugged a second-inning triple and Blankenship had a double. First baseman Evans connected for two triples to lead the Elks' squad. Couch had a triple and double and Colwick and Master had doubles. Keller was the losing pitcher.

Yastrzemski Back

Yastrzemski who had been sidelined with a torn knee ligament since May 9, was given the medical O.K. Thursday by team physician Tom Tierney.

"The knee is fine," Tierney said, although he added that Yastrzemski would wear a knee brace "for a while." He added no surgery would be required.

Yastrzemski said he still had a few problems with the knee, but not enough to make him sit out any longer.

"I can't cut, nor can I run laterally, but I can run straight ahead, I can run the bases, I can slide and I can hit and I can field," Yastrzemski said.

PADRES ARE COUSINS

SAN DIEGO (AP) — When New York Met pitcher Tom Seaver faces the San Diego Padres just mark up another win. When he beat them 5-1 here in April it marked his tenth victory without a defeat against them.

However, when the Padres scored their run it snapped Seaver's 1972 scoreless inning string which had reached 21 innings.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right – 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" – no starvation – because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service)–Cash is O.K.–to: Ski Team Diet, P.O. Box 15493 San Diego, California 92115. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!

CITY OF SIKESTON, MO.
Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of 1 1/2" hotmix asphaltic pavement on 6" soil cement base with concrete curb and gutters on William Street from Carroll Street west to join William Street in Cole's Subdivision in accordance with plans and specifications;

in the city of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the council of the city of Sikeston, state of Missouri, as follows: section 1: that the council of the city of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the city of Sikeston. section 2: that the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. section 3: that the estimated cost of the improvement is $5.30 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. section 4: that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the state of Missouri and the ordinances of the city of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the city council the general revenue fund of the city of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. section 5: that any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the state of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the industrial commission of Missouri. section 6: that the city clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the city of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 5th day of June, 1972. Approved: Frank Ferrell, Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

Committee Tightens Welfare Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has voted to reinstate the "man in the house" rule allowing states to refuse welfare benefits to a mother and children living with a man not legally related to them.

The provision would upset a 1968 Supreme Court ruling which stated that welfare benefits could not be denied a mother and children in such cases.

The committee also decided Thursday to provide, under its new Workfare program, that children of welfare parents who refuse to take a job could be referred to local child welfare agencies, which would be directed to make some provision for them.

It had indicated earlier that, if welfare parents declined to work, their children would get no assistance either.

The committee also agreed Thursday that a parent refusing to work would get one month's wages while officials tried to persuade him to take a job.

County Shares Estimated Lo[ss] Of $2.5 Million

KIRKSVILLE -- Scott County shared in a two and one- half million dollar interest loss on intangible taxes from 1964-1969, according to figures released by State Rep. George W. Parker.

Parker, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, said Scott County's interest losses in only 1968 and 1969, amounted to $5,264. "This does not include the years 1964-67, and is based on what was eventually earned in 1970 and '71 when scandals brought public attention to the favoritism and mismanagement of state funds."

Parker called the interest losses to the public a major issue in the treasurer's race this year.

"Intangible taxes are only one of several state funds which have been used to earn interest for political cronies instead of the taxpaying public," he added. "However, we have seen that by failing to collect interest on the state's intangible taxes, the taxpayers lost at the very least $2,483,296.11 form 1964-1969.

"Prior to 1970, there was no interest paid on the millions of dollars in this fund. The practice of using favored banks still continues unchecked."

NDC Leaders Endorse End To Secrecy

COLUMBIA — Rory Ellinger, state chairman of the New Democratic Coalition, today announced his endorsement of the Citizen's Lobby initiative petition drive that would, if ratified by the voters in November, virtually eliminate secrecy in government at the state, county and local levels.

Ellinger's endorsement was accompanied by Bruce T. Sommer, St. Louis NDC Chairman. In a joint statement, they urged all Missourians to support the petition drive launched by the Citizen's Lobby, which is headed by Carl M. Wilson of Kansas City and Raymond A. Appleton of Columbia.

Ellinger said, "We are appalled at the recent refusal of members of the State Legislature during the last session to take positive action on a bill which would have provided for open government.

"Secrecy has no place in government, and I am extermely pleased that the Citizen's Lobby has taken upon itself the tremendous task of securing the needed 92,000 signatures to place the constitutional amendment on the ballot this coming November," Ellinger stated.

"Whether one is a Republican, a Democrat, an independent, a liberal or a conservative, the issue remains the same, and that is that secrecy in meetings at which public business is conducted is deplorable and should not be tolerated. It is not only detrimental to good and efficient government," Ellinger continued, "it could be, and has proven to be, extremely dangerous.

"It is a sad situation when legislators fail in their duties and responsibilities to the very people they were elected to represent, and I am sure the voters will welcome a chance to vote on a constitutional amendment that will allow them to decide whether or not they want decisions made behind closed doors which affect them and their families. This unhealthy situation exists today at all levels of government in Missouri," Bruce Sommer added.

Ellinger urged "all interested individuals and groups who wish to support the drive to contact the Citizen's Lobby by writing to Box 833, Jefferson City, Missouri, 65101, or by phone at 314 635-0121."

Bounty of Good Cooks

ED. NOTE:

If glorious fruit and vegetables harvests are native to the Bootheel, then an abundance of good cooks in the area is only fitting and proper! It would seem that the password to any female gathering -- large or small, for bridge or brunch -- is a tried and true recipe. And the sincerest form of flattery is in a guest's second helping of the hostess' carefully assembled torte or heartier main dish. Sooner or later talk turns to an old or new recipe idea.

Most rules included in this supplement are from the "favorite" files of just a few of SEMO's a exemplary good cooks .... and the reader will find the field not limited to women! Credits follow each recipe. Others are from my own files, having passed the personal taste test.

Special thanks go to those contributing with emphasis on their efforts toward preserving that bit of "mystery" that goes into Southern cuisine.

FOOD FACTS

You can clarify butter by melting it in a saucepan. Skim off the foam on top and strain the rest through several layers of cheesecloth. Store the clarified butter in the refrigerator and use as needed.

A teaspoon of dried herbs is equal to about three tablespoons fresh.

Here's a dessert quickie the youngsters will love. Place canned cling peach halves cup-sided up in a shallow pan. Fill centers with marshmallow cream and sprinkle generously with chopped peanuts.. Slip under broiler for a minute to heat peaches and toast marshmallow cream lightly.

Jeff Davis Pie

The Jefferson Davis pie, named in honor of the president of the Confederacy from 1861 to 1865, was one of the regionally -famous Southern cream pies. Like this elite pie family, the Jeff Davis seems to have been born kin to the chess pie clan. That is, the rich branch that calls for dairy cream and begins by creaming sugar into butter. That's how air gets into the act, significantly. Unlike shortened cakes where sugar-creaming incorporates air to increase volume, there is purposely little flour to hold it in the creamed pie. The air bubbles out during baking which lets the Jeff Davis pie collapse, as it should, when doen. In the process the sugar caramelizes and coats the cream as it cools.

The origin of Jeff Davis pie has been attributed to a Missouri slavecook. She also named it, the story goes, not for the June 3 Davis birthday but to please her master, an ardent supporter of thySouthern cause. The word-of-mouth recipe indicated certain ingredients, but did not tell which sugar or cream, or how they were mixed with the butter and eggs. Another source stressed nutmet flavoring. Subsequent recipes (precious few are in print) naturally varied. A credible composite and undeniably divine version is made by creaming 1 1/2 cups firmly packed light brown sugar into 1/2 cup butter to introduce air. When cream is fluffy, beat in 4 egg yolks. Add 2 tablespoons sifted flour with 2 teaspoons freshly grated nutmeg; stir in with 1 cup light cream until smooth. Turn into baked 9-inch pastry shell. Bake in 300 degree oven about 1¼ hours or until filling has bubbled well, sets, and top is wrinkled and caramel brown.

Jeff Davis pie may be swirled with a soft meringue: made with the remaining egg whites whipped until frothy and stabilized with 2 tablespoons superfine sugar for each egg white. Beating until sugar is thoroughly dissolved prevents beading. Flavor with ½ teaspoon vanilla extract. Spread on pie and bake, in this case, in 300 degree oven 15 to 20 minutes or until delicately browned.

Heat broth and wine together in separate pan. Set aside.

Brown chops on both sides in a skillet. Arrange tomatoes, onion, green pepper and seasonings around chops. Sprinkle raw rice overall. Pour hot broth and wine over this; cover and cook slowly until all liquid is gone and chops are tender and browned. I turn the chops at least once to be evenly browned on both sides. SMOTHERED DOVES IN BROWN GRAVY

Make a brown gravy by melting abut ½ to 2/3 cup of bacon drippings in deep skillet. Add 1 to 2 cups of flour depending on how many doves you have (!) while stirring constantly, until it almost begins to look dull and dry instead of shiny. Stir constantly to keep flour from burning, but let it get a milk-chocolate brown. Add water and stir until thick-gravy consistency.

Pour gravy over birds and cover and bake at 450 degrees for 2 or 3 hours, reducing heat now and then. About 1½ hours before done, place carrots and potatoes in pan and baste with gravy, and keep basting birds and vegetables so they won't get too dry. Add water if cooking down too much, depending on whether you like gravy thick or thin.

½ tsp. salt
black pepper
½ cup melted butter (not oleo)
¼ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1¾ milk scalded (whole milk)

Add Worcestershire sauce to milk and pour over this, then put remaining cracker mixture on top. Bake in 400 degree oven 35 minutes until browned. Makes four servings. If you want to increase the amount, be sure just to double the ingredients and use a larger shallow baking dish. I more moist scallop is desired add half cup of the liquer from the oysters.

DOVE CASSEROLE

Either fry doves first and cook 1 hour or put doves in casserole and bake a good 1½ hours until doves are tender (Take one out and test.) Use about 30 dove breasts. Salt and pepper each one and place in large pyrex dish. Cover with the following mixture: Mix in bowl: 2 cans Golden Mushroom Soup
1 can Celery Soup
¼ -½ cup white wine (I use white sherry)
6 stalks celery, cut in ¼'' pieces

After mixture has been spread over doves slice two whole lemons into almost paper thin slices (remove seeds) and place these slices on top of mixture. Cut 1 stick of oleo into pieces and place over this. Cover with aluminum foil and bake either 350 or 400 for 1 hour or 1½ hours. May may add water if it becomes too dry. This is rich so serve over or with grits or wild rice mixture.

This recipe may be used with chicken, rabbit, squirrel, pheasant, and quail as well as dove.

PLAN-OVERS ARE A MUST for Mrs. Julius Wigdor, a working homemaker, who prepares lunch each day.

By
SHIRLEY PRITCHETT

CHARLESTON — "I was turned loose in the kitchen on Saturdays at an early age and allowed to 'play' and because of that and the time spent at the dining room table with Mother discussing food and recipes — I like to cook," said Mrs. Julius Wigdor.

THE DAILY STANDARD
SIKESTON, MO.
COOKBOOK SUPPLEMENT
FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1972
PAGE 10

A recipe collector who loves to share with family and friends, Mrs. Wigdor confesses to looking for rules which are simple and easy, ordinary enough so the family does not turn up their noses, but different enough to add variety to meals.

Mrs. Wigdor is a charming and delightful hostess and is very much at ease in the business world, as she works with her husband in the family -owned Dollar Discount Store here.

A special note of pride is evident in her voice as she speaks of her children. A son, Dr. David Wigdor, teaches in Lindelwood college inSt. Charles, and their daughter, Mrs. Harry Levy, is a dedicated social worker in Chicago, Ill.

"Someone has said immortality is in your children and I'm very pleased and proud of ours", she said.

Being a working homemaker she is especially fond of casseroles, something which can be placed in the oven before going to work in the morning.

"I couldn't cook without my oven and timer since Julius and I come home for lunch each day," she said.

"Many noon meals are prepared from plan-overs, as she refers to bits of dishes left over from previous meals.

"I go by a recipe the first time around, but after that I'm apt to substitute and I do taste before it gets to the table," she said.

"I love to try new ideas and experiment with new seasonings now and then.

"You must try this — add a few grains of nutmeg to vegetables — it does wonders for the flavor, not enough to know it's there, just makes them very good," she said.

The family is Jewish, and the traditional meals are served during holidays. Mrs. Wigdor makes an effort to prepare some of the dishes, however many are purchased.

She says her hobby was watching others do things — attending shows and concerts — but she did admit to dabbling in crafts and working with papier-mache.

Her recipe for Chicken Paradise is not only delicious but low in calories — only 272 per serving — and the recipe serves four.

"Everyone wants a new way to prepare chicken and this is almost too easy, it freezes and stores well," she said.

She calls her fish chowder recipe an accident.

"It started out as baked fish with canned celery soup for sauce and waited so long in a very slow oven it became chowder," she explained. "Thereafter we simply put it on the top of the stove to start with."

"I was curious about a roast when the ingredients sounded like a spice cake, so I tried it; I didn't tell my family what was in it but they asked for seconds and it's better re-heated the second day.

"I like life, there's so much going on," she smiled. "I like to feed my family and friends, but I'm not crushed if everything doesn't turn out perfectly. I'm happy with my life."

FISH CHOWDER

1 pound cod fish or other white fish
½ cup undiluted celery soup
½ cup sour cream (or ½ cup buttermilk)

EGGPLANT PATRICE

1 small eggplant
4 medium tomatoes, sliced
2 medium green peppers, chopped
2 medium onions, chopped
Seasoning (salt, pepper, garlic salt, sugar, monosodium glutamate)

Slice unpeeled eggplant slices in large casserole. Add a layer of sliced tomatoes. Fill spaces with a mixture of chopped green peppers and onions. Sprinkle lightly with each of the seasonings. Add a layer of cheese.

Repeat until casserole is filled, ending with cheese. Cover; bake at 400 degrees until steaming (about ½ hour). Remove cover, reduce heat to 350 degrees, cook until eggplant is tender and sauce thick and golden (about ½ -hour). Makes six servings.

Eggplant Patrice is high in protein and is an ideal meat substitute for lunch or dinner.

2 or 3 T. Spanish olive oil
1 large onion, sliced
2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 whole cloves
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 bay leaf of one T. minced parsley
1 T. vinegar
1 T. catsup
2 cups water
½ ounce bitter chocolate, grated

Dust meat with flour which has been mixed with one-half teaspoon of the salt. Brown meat in the hot olive oil in Dutch oven or in casserole which can be used on top of stove.

Remove meat, add onions and garlic and cook until yellow; replace meat and add remaining ingredients except chocolate. Cover very tight, simmer two and one-half to three hours until meat is very tender. Remove meat to platter, add more liquid if necessary to make two cups sauce.

Taste to see if you think it needs more salt. Add chocolate. Cook until sauce is thickened. Makes eight to ten servings.

SATAN'S VELVET ROBE CAKE

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1/3 cup cold water
½ cup cocoa
2½ cup sifted cake flour
1 cup cold water
3 egg whites
¾ cup sugar
1½ tsp. soda
1/3 cup cold water

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; add 3/4 cup sugar, two tbs. at a time; beat until stiff peaks form. Cream together butter and sugar; add vanilla and salt; add cocoa and water alternately, add flour with one cup cold water.

Fold meringue into this batter. Combine soda and water (1/3 cup) stir well and fold into mixture. Bake in two greased and paper lined 9-inch round pans (or long flat loaf pan) at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until done.

CHICKEN PARADISE

4 chicken breasts, split
1 large McIntosh apple, peeled and diced
½ cup sherry wine (or dry vermouth)
1 T. parsley flakes
Salt and pepper

Trim away border chicken fat attached to the edge of the skin. Place the chicken, skin side up, in a non-stick baking dish. Surround with apples and raisins and pour on the wine. (Most of the wine calories evaporate in the cooking.

Sprinkle with parsley, salt and pepper and bake in a pre-heated 350-degree oven for about 35 minutes, basting occasionally. Increase oven temperature to 425 degrees and bake additional 10 to 15 minutes, until chicken is browned. If sauce evaporates too quickly, add a few tablespoons of water.

In blender mix:
3 large bell peppers, which have been seeded and cut into pieces
1½ cups cider vinegar

Keep Your Kitchen Cool

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (AP) — Kitchen goofs happen to everyone, usually at the worst possible time.

THE DAILY STANDARD
SIKESTON, MO.
COOKBOOK SUPPLEMENT
FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1972
PAGE 18

Frances Bucks says you can avoid most of them by keeping cool while you cook, reading recipes ahead of time and going at things the right way.

But for those days when things go wrong anyway, she has some suggestions for repairing, disguising and cleaning up messes.

Miss Bucks is supervisor of food and nutrition for the Ontario department of agriculture, home economics branch.

If you have over-salted soup, dilute it with water or milk if the stock is string enough to stand thinning. If not, cook slices of raw potato in it and throw them away. They will absorb some of the salt.

If you have put too much salt in vegetables and haven't time to cook more, try disguising it with an unseasoned white sauce.

When you take grease off soup or gravy, and haven't time to chill it to solidify the fat, you might find a bulb baster easier to use than a spoon. When the fat coating is shallow, use paper tolws to blow it off.

I your gravy has lumps, strain it though a sieve or whipp it with a wire whip. You can avoid lumps to start with by shaking the flour and water ina jar before you add them to the gravy, to make sure they're well mixed.

"If you make gravy in the roasting pan and get up the scraping from the bottom of the pan, you're going to have a few lumps anyway.

She says wire whisks are good for any sauce that you don,t want lumpy or crusty.

"If you're making a white sauce, or anything with milk, they form a bubbly surface and prevent it from scumming."

Speaking of prevention, if you make your own mayonnaise, you can keep it from curdling by adding oil drop by drop to the egg yolk vinegar base.

If it curdles anyway, get another egg yolk, beat it slightly and add the curdled mayonaise to it, beating continuously. As it thickens, it should smooth out again.

ROYAL ORANGE COFFEE CAKE

1 can (11 oz.) refrigerated orange Danish rolls with icing
½ cup flaked coconut
1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese
Toasted coconut

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Grease cookie sheet. Toast 2 tablespoons coconut; set aside. Separate dough into 8 rolls. Press one side of rolls into remaining coconut. Arrange rolls, coconut-side-up, to form an 8-inch ring on prepared cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes until golden brown. In small bowl, combine icing and cream cheese; beat until light and fluffy. Spread over warm coffee cake. Sprinkle with toasted coconut. Serve warm. Store in refrigerator.

S berries

Inspired by spring and vine-fresh berries, recipe varisations for the internationally known "creams" proliferate. One such is Strawberries Romanoff, named for theRomanov dynasty which from 1613 until the 1917 Revolution produced all the czars of Russia. It was created by an unknown, at least unknown today. A French connection is probable, for the delectable dessert has that kind of elegant simplicity. Sophisticated to serve, and so easy to make beginners can do it without help. Risk-proof because a little more or a bit less of any ingredient is a matter of taste. For 6 to 8 servings, half 2 to 3 pints strawberries (after they have been washed, well-dried, and hulled, of course). Stir in gently 1/3 to 1/2 cup superfine sugar for strawberries to form their own juice-syrup. Sprinkle on 1/4 to 1/3 cup kirsch, rum, or both combined with Cointreau. Brandy, curacao, or orange juice are good too. Chill until sugar dissolves, mingling flavors. Fold in 2 cups heavy cream, whipped with powdered sugar and vanilla extract to taste; chill. Serve dramatically for a party buffet ladled from a huge glass or silver bowl enthroned on a summit of crushed ice.

For a richer variation, stir 1 quart softened vanilla ice cream until smooth and fold into whipped cream. Since the commercial ice cream already contains sugar and vanilla, these need not be whipped with the cream.

TASTY TRADITIONS

The pinnacle of pancakes to a Russian is bound to be blini, served traditionally with clarified butter, caviar, and sour cream. In other countries homemade or restaurant-sought blini might seem perplexingly like Yiddish - named blintzes, also served with sour cream. Definitely different, blini are indigenously based on buckwheat flour, often mixed with white, and milk; recipes vary slightly. Moreover, blini are yeast-raised, with a little sugar added to feed and speed the rising fermentation. Rising during preparation – at 2 or 3 intervals spanning a total of 2 to 4½ hours - make blini like no other pancake in the world. And there is rich lightness incorporated when melted butter, egg yolks and whites beaten separately, and whipped cream are folded into the thin batter. Finally, after a last 20 to 30 minute rising, blini are fry-baked on both sides in butter; but usually in a special cast-iron blini pan with indented circles to make all blini equal in size.

In old Russia during the pre-Lenten "Buter Festival" blini were downed by the two or three dozen --at one time. Brag -counts were kept. Sold in the icycold town square from makeshift stalls set up for the carnival week, blini were also served at home. Freshly mixed, baked, stacked and kept warm in their white cloth warp, blini were enjoyed enormously at two meals each day of the festival – but only as a first course.

The first Russian sugar refinery was built in 1702 by order of Peter the Great whose reign initiated a new era of history, absolutely European in form.

The U.S.S.R. now ranks first in world production of beet sugar, accounting for more than ten million tons by 1971 report. But with annual intake of ninety pounds per capita, more sugar is consumed than is natively produced: close to twoand a half million tons more.

To make any unliked or "good for you" food enjoyable, people have been known to add sugar. Even that can have limitations. Gogol, writing in "Dead Souls" about nineteenth century Russian living, has Sobakevitch saying to Tchitchikov: "If you sprinkle frogs with sugar I wouldn't put them into my mouth ..."

If you've really goofed, and burned the pots, there are a few things to do to make cleaning them as easy as possible.

Boil water and a little detergent in them, and scrape off the burned material. Use a wooden spoon for glass or ceramic pots and scour with a non-metalic pad. Metal will usually make a black mark on ceramics.

You might also boil the water with soda or ammonia or viengar in it.

"Soda and ammonia are alkalis and vinegar the opposite, but there doesn't seem to be any rhyme or reason to which you use. Once the food is burned, it doesn't seem to matter. Alkali may darken an aluminum pot, so you might try vinegar in it.

"If you have a darkened aluminum pot, you can clean it with a weak solution of vinegar and water or cream of tartar and water. If you aren't worried about where the stain goes, you can cook acid foods such as tomatoes or rhubarb in the pot and they'll clean it.

"If you have stained enamel or ceramic pots, use a bleach, let it soak, boil it, then wash and rinse it thoroughly."

BROWN SUGAR: Seal and store in freezer. Avoid lumps and annoyance.

EDITORS NOTE — The following recipes are taken from a small cookbook entitled "Festive Manna," by Miriam Field. It is beautifully illustrated with drawings and reproductions of paintings depicting traditional celebrations of Jewish Holidays. Miss Field has selected only a few of the famous good foods from the feast day menus. Best of all, she has provided a warm and informative commentary all about the gathering and eating of "miraculous Manna" which God faithfully delivered to the Israelite people during their Old Testament wanderings.

Preservation of the

There is not enough space in this publication to give the information available on basic freezing techniques. In chatting with housewives, I gathered a dozen or more different ideas about freezing foods. Nearly all are convinced that blanching vegetables briefly before freezing is best. Several women, however, believe that simply washing and draining before packing them into containers speeds up the freezing process, assuring freshness and flavor. The homemaker should be aware of one fact – that unblanched vegetables continue the ripening process even after freezing, whereas the blanching technique brings ripening to a halt by stopping enzyme action. So select your own method, but stick to the basic rules-- cleanliness, careful selection of food, and hurry the foods from garden to freezer in most cases.

Rules vary little concerning fruits. Some families prefer them sweetened and syrup-packed, others use no sugar at all.

There also are numerous packaging materials available--rigid containers made of aluminum, glass, plastic, and waxed cardboards, bags and sheets of cellophane, aluminum foil, paper and plastic -- so, do your own thing. Consider your budget, individual taste and the size of your freezer.

The following pointers are suggested by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for obtaining satisfactory results in home freezing fruits and vegetables.

APPLES — Select full-flavored apples that are crisp and firm, not mealy in texture. Wash, peel and core. Slice into twelfths and pack in the following way for use in pie making.

Sugar Pack. To prevent darkening of apples during preparation, slice them into a solution of 2 T. salt to a gallon of water. Hold in this solution no more than 15 to 20 minutes. Drain.

To retard darkening, place slices in a single layer in steamer; steam 1½ to 2 minutes, depending on thickness of slices. Cool in cold water; drain.

Over each quart (1¼ lbs.) of apple slices, sprinkle evenly ½ cup sugar and stir.

Pack apples into containers and press fruit down, leaving head space. Seal and Freeze.

MELONS (cantaloupe, honeydew, watermelon)— Select firm-fleshed, well-colored, ripe melons, cut in half, remove seeds, and peel. Cut melons into slices, cubes or balls. Pack into containers and cover with syrup (2 cups sugar to 4 cups water). Leave head space, seal and freeze.

ASPARAGUS — Select young, tender stalks with compact tips. Sort according to thickness of stalk.

Wash asparagus thoroughly and cut or break off and discard tough parts of stalks. Leave spears in lengths to fit the package or cut in 2-inch lengths.

Heat stalks in boiling water according to thickness of stalk:

Small stalks 2 minutes
Med. stalks 3 minutes
Large stalks 4 minutes

Cool promptly in cold water and drain.

Pack into containers, leaving no head space. When packing spears, alternate tips and stem ends. In containers that are wider at the top than bottom, pack asparagus with tips down. Seal and freeze.

LIMA BEANS — Select well-filled pods; they should be green but not starchy or mealy. Shell and sort according to size, or leave beans in pods to be shelled after heating and cooling. Heat in boiling water approximately 3 to 4 minutes.

Cool promptly in cold water and drain. Pack into containers, leaving ½-inch head space. Seal and freeze.

BROCCOLI — Select tight, compact dark-green heads with tender stalks free from woodiness. Wash, peel stalks, and trim. Soak for ½ hour in a solution made of 4 tsp. salt to 1 gallon cold water. Split lengthwise into pieces so that flowerets are not more than 1½ inches across.

Heat in steam 5 minutes or in boiling water 3 minutes. Cool promptly in cold water and drain.

OKRA — Wash young, tender, green pods thoroughly. Cut off stems in such a way so as not to cut open seed cells.

Heat in boiling water 3 - 4 minutes. Cool in cold water and drain.

Leave whole or slice crosswise.

Pack, leaving head space. Seal and freeze.

PEPPERS — Green peppers frozen without blanching are best for use in un-cooked foods. Heated peppers are easier to pack and good for use in cooking.

Wash firm, thick-walled peppers, cut out stems and cut in half to remove seeds. If desired, cut into ½-inch strips or rings.

Heat in boiling water, if desired, about 2 minutes.

Cool, drain and pack.

SQUASH — Select young squash with small seeds and tender rind. Wash, cut in ½-inch slices. Heat in boiling water for 3 minutes. Cool promptly in cold water and drain.

These freezing tips are a courtesy of the KERR Mason jar company.

Jars retain highest quality in frozen foods (a moisture, vapor- proof and leak-proof container), prevent drying out, mingling of odors, and preserve food value, flavor, color, and better texture.

TAPERED JARS, (wide mouth pint and regular half pint) are especially convenient for freezing — easy to pack — easy to remove frozen food without thawing.

SELECTION OF FOODS

Freeze only recommended variety of vegetables and fruits. Consult your County Extension Agents for best variety in your locality. Freeze only young, tender vegetables and well -ripened fruits.

PREPARATION OF FOODS

VEGETABLES

No. 1 Wash. Sort for size. Peel, trim, and cut into size.

No. 2 All vegetables (except green peppers) must be blanched. Use 1 gallon boiling water for each pound prepared food. Count time as soon as vegetable is put in boiling water — keep water boiling. Heat 1 minute longer if you live above 5,000 ft. altitude.

No. 3 Cool immediately — Cold water (60 F or less), cold running water, or ice water is BEST.

No. 4 Pack in jars, leave head space..

Put on cap, screw band tight. Freeze immediately.

Store in freezer 0 F. or below.

FRUITS

No. 1 Wash, peel, trim, pit, and slice if needed.

No. 2 Pack in syrup, sugar or unsweetened. Syrup helps to develop flavor and hold color. Syrup is best for fruits that discolor badly.

Fruits for dessert use — best in sugar.

Fruits for cooking use — best in sugar or unsweetened.

Fruits for special diets or diabetis diets — unsweetened, or use Sucaryl — follow manufacturer's instructions.

No. 3 To prevent darkening of light colored fruit during storage and thawing, use commercial ascorbic and citric acid mixture by following manufacturer's instructions, or use crystalline ascorbic acid, ½ teaspoon to 1 quart of fruit.

No. 4 Pack, leave head space. Put on cap, screw band tight. Freeze immediately. Store in freezer 0 F. or below.

CAKE FROSTINGS: Those made with butter or cream and powdered sugar freeze satisfactorily (those made with egg whites become frothy and spongy).

DO NOT: Freeze in used milk cartons without plastic bag liner. Crevices in carton encourage growth of bacteria.

MARHSMALLOWS: Keep in freezer. Do not dry out and are easier to cut with kitchen shears.
